House Dumps Mental Bill In Senate's Lap

Ohio Legislature Breaks Record For Bills Introduction

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's views on how responsible relatives should be charged for the care of Ohio's mental patients get any serious consideration, it will be in the State Senate.

The Republican-led House, in a hurry to speed its bill on the vexing problem to the Senate, unanimously dumped the problem in the Senate's lap Wednesday along with DiSalle's special message on the issue.

House Democrats, led by Minority Leader James A. Lantz, D-Fairfield, tried to get the GOP bill sent back to committee, but failed on a 51-81 vote. The House then passed the bill 133-0.

This is the measure which, DiSalle has said, "won't do much harm and won't do much good."

The House action came on a busy legislative day which saw the bill introduction record of 1,607, set only two years ago, demolished by senators who pumped another dozen measures into the hopper. The new record stands at 1,617. Observers now expect the total to pass the 1,650 mark before this session ends.

The Senate completed action, except for House acceptance of amendments, on an emergency bill to permit licensed shooting preserves to propagate quail and other game birds, as well as pheasants, and offer them for shooting by paying hunters.

The Senate sent back to its Judiciary Committee by an 18-17 vote a hotly controversial bill which would place local movers of household goods under the regulation of the Utilities Commission. It seems likely the measure will languish and die in committee. Opponents asserted the bill would make it almost impossible for a newcomer to get into the local moving business.

The bill on charges for mental patients cancels accounts for care incurred before 1956. It puts future bills on relatives' ability to pay and relieves relatives of any liability for full-time patients in state hospitals for more than 15 years.

House members listened to the reading of the governor's special message, then recessed for about 90 minutes for caucuses.

Ontario Police Silent On Kidnap-Slaying

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (AP)—Police maintained a tight silence today on the progress of their hunt for the kidnaper who roped 10-year-old Tommy McNevin to a tree by the neck and left him to die in the snow.

The biggest question mark hung over Tommy's scoutmaster, Warren Williamson, 41, a church elder and father of a son and daughter, who committed suicide Tuesday night after claiming the kidnaper had designated him to deliver the $25,000 ransom demanded.

Jobless Bill Awaits Okay Of President

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill providing an emergency extension of unemployment benefits totaling almost $1 billion needs only President Kennedy's signature to become law.

The President had given the measure top priority among his emergency steps to deal with the recession.

Fifteen days after he signs the bill extra unemployment checks will begin going to persons who have been out of work so long they have used up present benefits.

The extra benefits could reach as many as three million jobless during the two-year eligibility period which began last July 1. Duration of the extra benefits will vary according to states up to a maximum of 13 weeks.

As it passed House and Senate Wednesday, the legislation was a compromise version of different bills passed previously by the two bodies.

Hancock Acts Against Slots

Gaming Count Seen After Seizure Of 8

NEW CUMBERLAND — Hancock County authorities are moving on two fronts against the unknown owners of the eight slot machines and the large quantity of pinball machines seized in a warehouse at Weirton Tuesday.

Acting Prosecutor Don Donell said charges of possession of gaming devices will be filed against the unknown owners of the slot machines seized by state police and county sheriff's deputies.

Assessor Anthony Leon said his office will assess the 200 to 300 devices for personal property taxes. Earlier, Sheriff Joseph Manypenny estimated their value at about $300,000.

State Police Superintendent W. E. Burchett said at Charleston Wednesday he is against operation of slot machines "anyplace." "The best way to get rid of those things is to just keep hitting at them and make them unprofitable," he explained.

The building had been rented by the "City Coin Service" of Bridgeville, Pa. The FBI said it was investigating how the machines were transported to the area.

State Police Capt. D. E. Carson, commanding officer of Co. A headquarters at Shinnston, said his officers will "definitely continue the search for gambling devices" in the Northern Panhandle until "we stop any out - of - state gambling syndicate that may be moving in."

Compromise Talk Echoes On Wage Bill

House Begins Action On Plan To Hike Present Minimum

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talk of compromise echoed around Capitol Hill today as the House got down to work on a bill to increase the present $1-an-hour minimum wage.

Despite the insistence of administration spokesmen that they were sticking by their original proposal, backstage maneuvering by both sides made it clear alternatives are being considered.

President Kennedy has asked for a 25-cent boost in the minimum in steps and added coverage for 4.3 million workers. A powerful coalition of Republican and Southern Democrats is backing a 15-cent raise and extension of new coverage to only 1.4 million workers.

With a final vote scheduled for Friday, Democratic leaders in the House have come up with a compromise they hope will avert a head-on collision that could prove damaging to Kennedy's prestige.

It would tie Kennedy's wage proposal to the new coverage for 1.4 million in the coalition substitute. The wage would go to $1.15 four months after enactment and to $1.25 two years later. New coverage would be limited to employes of retail chains with at least five outlets in two states.

Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., has been tapped to present the compromise in hopes of luring Southern Democrats from support of the coalition bill.

Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, leader of the Republican forces in the coalition, has announced he will oppose the Vinson measure. But he acknowledges it will probably drain off enough of his Southern support to make its passage likely.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg issued a strong denial that the administration was backing down in any way from its proposals. But the introduction shortly afterward of the Vinson substitute made it clear the House leadership, at least, is not opposed to a compromise.

Thief Obtains Whisky In Wellsville Tavern

A "thirsty" thief helped himself to several bottles of whisky after rifling the change from a juke box at the Star-Lite Cafe, 1307 Main St., Wellsville, sometime during the night, police said today.

A clasp was pried loose on the front door to gain entrance. The thief then forced open the juke box and took an undetermined amount of change, police said.

The thief then apparently became thirsty after all his efforts and walked off with 13 bottles of liquor from the shelves behind the bar.

Sam Vescio, son of Frank Vescio, 400 15th St., Wellsville, the owner, discovered the entry when he opened for business today.

U.S. Speeds Armed Units Toward Laos

Diplomatic Crisis Looms With Soviet; Kennedy Talk Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy apparently began speeding U.S. military units toward crisis-wracked Southeast Asia today in the crucial hours of a diplomatic showdown with Russia over the embattled kingdom of Laos.

Kennedy is expected to issue a major U.S. policy statement on the Laotian crisis at a news conference tonight—6 p.m. EST.

The news conference will be carried live by radio and television networks.

Meanwhile the President awaited some reaction from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to an urgent appeal from Britain for agreement to a cease-fire in the civil war in Laos. Given a cease-fire, the Western powers would accept a Communist-backed proposal for an international conference on Laos.

This last-minute move on the diplomatic front was made by Britain after consultation with the United States. It kept open the road for a negotiated settlement and put the next step up to Khrushchev.

Meanwhile the reported military moves underscored Kennedy's determination to deal with the Communist threat by force if diplomacy fails.

One of the tightest secrecy clampdowns since the Korean War shut off Pentagon information on military moves.

Authorities here said privately, however, that some of those moves were clearly precautionary steps, others were designed to begin a substantial increase in U.S. military assistance to the royal Laotian government.

Usually well-informed diplomats reported that if Khrushchev does not respond favorably to the latest Western-initiated diplomatic solution in Laos, the Kennedy administration will ask the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization to intervene to prevent the country from being taken over by the Communists.

Soviet reaction to an urgent new effort by Britain to get a diplomatic settlement could bring last minute changes in the expected presidential declaration. But officials were not very hopeful that the Soviets would agree at this stage to Western terms for a diplomatic settlement.

Kennedy is scheduled to hold a news conference at 6 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. The conference was originally set for 4 p.m. Wednesday, then delayed while he and his advisers developed plans for dealing with the increasingly critical situation centering around the struggle in Laos.

The British proposal made Wednesday in Moscow reportedly calls for revival of an international control commission to bring about a ceasefire in Laos.

With Global Repercussions

Political Storm In Britain Builds Up Over Spy Ring

LONDON (AP)—A major political storm with international repercussions was building up in Britain today over how a Soviet spy ring could operate five years in this tight little island without being detected.

Conviction Wednesday of a Soviet master spy, an American couple and two British lovers for stealing royal navy secrets still left missing links in the case England's lord chief justice called "a thriller."

Strange Radio Moscow transmissions on a secret wavelength 10 days after the five were caught led security officials to believe that other Soviet spies at large in Britain were being alerted to change their call signs and codes.

Lord Carrington, first lord of the admiralty, ordered a worldwide overhaul of the British navy's security system and announced a board of inquiry would be set up to investigate gaps already disclosed.

British newspapers lashed the security services for "unbelievable slackness." Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express raised the question of "how much vital information had reached the Russians through the flagrant folly and incompetence of naval intelligence" before the spy ring was cracked.

There were fears here of the impact on joint British-American military and diplomatic planning.

The United States banned sharing atomic secrets in 1950 after Klaus Fuchs was caught giving the Soviets secrets credited with advancing construction of the first Soviet atomic bomb 3 to 10 years. The disappearance behind the iron curtain of British diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean and of atomic scientist Bruno Pontecorvo added to American mistrust of British security.

The British navy said the secrets passed to the Soviets by the five spies convicted Wednesday had "marked value," including details of the atomic submarine Dreadnought, built with the help of U.S. blueprints. But Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was understood to have written President Kennedy that no U.S. naval or atomic secrets were compromised by the spy ring.

Chief Justice Sir Hubert Lister Parker underscored the seriousness of the spying, however, by imposing sentences of from 15 to 25 years when the normal maximum is 7.

The case was expected to bring closer cooperation between the Western allies in keeping tabs on suspicious persons.

Gordon Arnold Lonsdale, 37, who got 25 years as the "directing force" of the ring, claimed to be a Canadian and represented himself sometimes as an American but Scotland Yard said he actually was a Soviet citizen.

The American couple — Morris Cohen, 50, alias Kroger, and his wife Helen, 47, who were given 20 years, have associated with Communists since the Spanish Civil War.

Scotland Yard indicated in court they were connected with the cases of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, Americans electrocuted in 1950 for stealing U.S. atomic secrets for Moscow, and Col. Rudolf Abel, Soviet master spy arrested in 1957 and now serving 30 years in a U.S. prison.

Yet for nearly 10 years the

The West edged cautiously today toward a Soviet peace plan for Laos.

Britain, in a note delivered to Moscow partly on the initiative of the United States, accepted the Soviet proposal for an international conference on Laos—provided the Soviet Union first helps secure an effective truce in the torn Southeast Asia kingdom.

But the U.S. aircraft carrier Midway and two destroyers steamed out of Hong Kong on a few hours notice, raising belief they had been alerted for action in case of an East-West showdown.

Unconfirmed reports said other U.S. 7th Fleet units were heading south toward the Indochina coast.

U.S. military officials said in Washington the anti-Communist Southeast Asia Treaty Organization—whose military strategists are now meeting in Bangkok, Thailand—could throw about 4,000 battle-ready troops into Laos on short notice if Premier Boun Oum's pro-Western government needs urgent help in his battle against pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels.

The sudden departure of 2,000 U.S. Marines from Tokyo led to speculation they were being returned to their Okinawa base in preparation for any emergency.

A responsible source in Bangkok said a Marine maintenance unit is being stationed at Udorn, Thailand, to service helicopters supplying the Laotian army. Udorn is about 50 miles south of Vientiane, the Laotian capital.

President Kennedy, who has taken an increasingly tough stand on Laos as the current rebel offensive in Laos gained victory after victory, is expected to make a major U.S. policy statement on the crisis today.

Britain's note today suggested the British and Soviet foreign ministers appeal to the warring factions in Laos for an immediate cease-fire. If the fighting stops, the British suggested, an Indian-Canadian-Polish control commission should be sent to Laos to supervise the truce.

If the truce is respected, Britain said, she and her allies would be prepared to hold an international conference to work out a settlement.

4,000 Ready To Help Laos, SEATO Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southeast Asia Treaty Organization nations could throw about 4,000 battle-ready troops into Laos within a short time after any decision to help the royal Laotian army.

This conclusion was drawn from a check of military sources here today as concern deepened over the apparently deteriorating situation in the mountainous kingdom where pro-Communist rebels are advancing toward the capital of Vientiane.

Against the Pathet Lao rebels —estimated to number between 8,000 and 10,000—a force of 4,000 disciplined, well armed men could be decisive if used to bolster the 29,000-man royal Laotian army.

However, the danger some U.S. officials see is that such intervention might evoke a similar response from the Communist side and thus set off a Korea-type war.

If such a war should erupt, the United States would be at a disadvantage because its forces are thinly spread and it is short on airlift and sealift.

U.S. officials said Wednesday there was no serious thought, as of then, of direct American military intervention.

Pentagon spokesmen said U.S. forces had not been placed on any special readiness basis.

Postal Branch For East End To Be Moved

Savings Firm Will Require Station A Area For Expansion

After 47 years in the same location, the East End postal branch will move to a temporary location on Mulberry St. next week so the First Federal Savings & Loan Association can expand its headquarters in the present building on Pennsylvania Ave.

Beginning next Thursday morning, Station A will be located in temporary quarters at 529 Mulberry St. pending construction of a proposed new facility, Postmaster Samuel W. Brown announced.

The building is owned by John T. Laitsch of Dixonville, who operates the East End Dairy Store in the other half. With slightly more than 1,000 square feet of space, the building is 14 feet wide at the front and widens to 19 feet.

The move will begin when Station A closes as usual at noon Wednesday, the postmaster said, and the department expects to be ready for business at 8 a. m. Thursday.

The main problem will be the location of the "screen line" or postal boxes, Brown said. Because of the narrow width of the building, the postal boxes will be located along one side of the wall with a small space provided so postal clerks can "throw" mail to individual boxes.

The department has been searching for a new site for about 18 months. It has an option on some

Signup Of Voters Ends With 10,518 Listed

East Liverpool has approximately 10,518 voters qualified for the May 2 primaries, the County Election Board said today after closing its books on registration Wednesday night at 9.

Sixty qualified in the final rush yesterday. It was the busiest day since the board opened its registration drive about a month ago.

Figures show only 132 have registered at the office since Jan. 1, exclusive of about 90 who reinstated their registration by mail after their names had been removed from the books in the annual year-end check.

Midland Tax Foes Launch Court Battle

13 Objections Cited In Tri-State Citizens Committee's Action

Opponents of Midland's new $10 occupation tax asked Beaver County Quarter Sessions Court today for a hearing on the legality of the levy to be collected from all persons working inside the borough.

The court set the hearing for April 13 and issued an order halting any further tax action by the borough until there is a ruling.

Council adopted the tax Feb. 23 on all who work there, including residents and non-residents. Non-resident employes formed a Tri-State Citizens' Committee and retained Atty. R. Clifton Hood of Beaver Falls to fight the tax.

About 60 attended a meeting of the committee Wednesday evening in the fire hall at Ohio View, Industry, and heard Atty. Hood outline the procedure to take the case to court.

Friday is the deadline and Atty. Hood filed the petition of 30 signatures—five more than required—and a $500 bond, requesting the public hearing at which both sides may present arguments.

The petition contains 13 objections, principally contending the tax ordinance "is wholly invalid because it purports to tax occupations of non - residents. . . .contrary to law."

The group claims the ordinance is defective on several points and violates the "due process clause of the 14th Amendment."

Atty. Hood said some of the objections are substantial and some are purely technical and "may not hold water." He said the matter has never been determined before and if it goes to trial and the borough wants to go on, "we may be guinea pigs" and "we'll be making legal history."

He said the tax has never been tested because it never occurred to many towns to pass it and direct it toward non-residents.

Emergency Program Bill

Kennedy Signs Measure To Cut Grain Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has signed into law his first major bill—an emergency program designed to cut down tremendous surpluses in grains used to feed livestock.

Kennedy signed the bill Wednesday less than two hours after the Senate, by a 58-31 vote, completed congressional action. The House earlier approved the compromise bill 231-185.

Before Kennedy's signature was dry, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman set the law's machinery into action. Their urgency was prompted by the season—spring is here and planting of this year's feed grain crops already has started in some sections.

Freeman immediately made public the national average price supports for feed grains — corn, sorghums, oats, barley and rye. All supports were higher than last year's.

Then Freeman flew to Omaha to address today the first of three field meetings with Agriculture Department personnel. They will relay details of the program to farmers.

Freeman said Assistant Secretary James R. Ralph will address the second field meeting in Denver Friday, and Undersecretary

House Dumps Mental Bill In Senate's Lap

Ohio Legislature Breaks Record For Bills Introduction

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's views on how responsible relatives should be charged for the care of Ohio's mental patients get any serious consideration, it will be in the State Senate.

The Republican-led House, in a hurry to speed its bill on the vexing problem to the Senate, unanimously dumped the problem in the Senate's lap Wednesday along with DiSalle's special message on the issue.

House Democrats, led by Minority Leader James A. Lantz, D-Fairfield, tried to get the GOP bill sent back to committee, but failed on a 51-81 vote. The House then passed the bill 133-0.

This is the measure which, DiSalle has said, "won't do much harm and won't do much good."

The House action came on a busy legislative day which saw the bill introduction record of 1,607, set only two years ago, demolished by senators who pumped another dozen measures into the hopper. The new record stands at 1,617. Observers now expect the total to pass the 1,650 mark before this session ends.

The Senate completed action, except for House acceptance of amendments, on an emergency bill to permit licensed shooting preserves to propagate quail and other game birds, as well as pheasants, and offer them for shooting by paying hunters.

The Senate sent back to its Judiciary Committee by an 18-17 vote a hotly controversial bill which would place local movers of household goods under the regulation of the Utilities Commission. It seems likely the measure will languish and die in committee. Opponents asserted the bill would make it almost impossible for a newcomer to get into the local moving business.

The bill on charges for mental patients cancels accounts for care incurred before 1956. It puts future bills on relatives' ability to pay and relieves relatives of any liability for full-time patients in state hospitals for more than 15 years.

House members listened to the reading of the governor's special message, then recessed for about 90 minutes for caucuses.

Ontario Police Silent On Kidnap-Slaying

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (AP)—Police maintained a tight silence today on the progress of their hunt for the kidnaper who roped 10-year-old Tommy McNevin to a tree by the neck and left him to die in the snow.

The biggest question mark hung over Tommy's scoutmaster, Warren Williamson, 41, a church elder and father of a son and daughter, who committed suicide Tuesday night after claiming the kidnaper had designated him to deliver the $25,000 ransom demanded.

Jobless Bill Awaits Okay Of President

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill providing an emergency extension of unemployment benefits totaling almost $1 billion needs only President Kennedy's signature to become law.

The President had given the measure top priority among his emergency steps to deal with the recession.

Fifteen days after he signs the bill extra unemployment checks will begin going to persons who have been out of work so long they have used up present benefits.

The extra benefits could reach as many as three million jobless during the two-year eligibility period which began last July 1. Duration of the extra benefits will vary according to states up to a maximum of 13 weeks.

As it passed House and Senate Wednesday, the legislation was a compromise version of different bills passed previously by the two bodies.

Hancock Acts Against Slots

Gaming Count Seen After Seizure Of 8

NEW CUMBERLAND — Hancock County authorities are moving on two fronts against the unknown owners of the eight slot machines and the large quantity of pinball machines seized in a warehouse at Weirton Tuesday.

Acting Prosecutor Don Donell said charges of possession of gaming devices will be filed against the unknown owners of the slot machines seized by state police and county sheriff's deputies.

Assessor Anthony Leon said his office will assess the 200 to 300 devices for personal property taxes. Earlier, Sheriff Joseph Manypenny estimated their value at about $300,000.

State Police Superintendent W. E. Burchett said at Charleston Wednesday he is against operation of slot machines "anyplace." "The best way to get rid of those things is to just keep hitting at them and make them unprofitable," he explained.

The building had been rented by the "City Coin Service" of Bridgeville, Pa. The FBI said it was investigating how the machines were transported to the area.

State Police Capt. D. E. Carson, commanding officer of Co. A headquarters at Shinnston, said his officers will "definitely continue the search for gambling devices" in the Northern Panhandle until "we stop any out - of - state gambling syndicate that may be moving in."

Compromise Talk Echoes On Wage Bill

House Begins Action On Plan To Hike Present Minimum

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talk of compromise echoed around Capitol Hill today as the House got down to work on a bill to increase the present $1-an-hour minimum wage.

Despite the insistence of administration spokesmen that they were sticking by their original proposal, backstage maneuvering by both sides made it clear alternatives are being considered.

President Kennedy has asked for a 25-cent boost in the minimum in steps and added coverage for 4.3 million workers. A powerful coalition of Republican and Southern Democrats is backing a 15-cent raise and extension of new coverage to only 1.4 million workers.

With a final vote scheduled for Friday, Democratic leaders in the House have come up with a compromise they hope will avert a head-on collision that could prove damaging to Kennedy's prestige.

It would tie Kennedy's wage proposal to the new coverage for 1.4 million in the coalition substitute. The wage would go to $1.15 four months after enactment and to $1.25 two years later. New coverage would be limited to employes of retail chains with at least five outlets in two states.

Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., has been tapped to present the compromise in hopes of luring Southern Democrats from support of the coalition bill.

Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, leader of the Republican forces in the coalition, has announced he will oppose the Vinson measure. But he acknowledges it will probably drain off enough of his Southern support to make its passage likely.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg issued a strong denial that the administration was backing down in any way from its proposals. But the introduction shortly afterward of the Vinson substitute made it clear the House leadership, at least, is not opposed to a compromise.

Thief Obtains Whisky In Wellsville Tavern

A "thirsty" thief helped himself to several bottles of whisky after rifling the change from a juke box at the Star-Lite Cafe, 1307 Main St., Wellsville, sometime during the night, police said today.

A clasp was pried loose on the front door to gain entrance. The thief then forced open the juke box and took an undetermined amount of change, police said.

The thief then apparently became thirsty after all his efforts and walked off with 13 bottles of liquor from the shelves behind the bar.

Sam Vescio, son of Frank Vescio, 400 15th St., Wellsville, the owner, discovered the entry when he opened for business today.

Postal Branch For East End To Be Moved

Savings Firm Will Require Station A Area For Expansion

After 47 years in the same location, the East End postal branch will move to a temporary location on Mulberry St. next week so the First Federal Savings & Loan Association can expand its headquarters in the present building on Pennsylvania Ave.

Beginning next Thursday morning, Station A will be located in temporary quarters at 529 Mulberry St. pending construction of a proposed new facility, Postmaster Samuel W. Brown announced.

The building is owned by John T. Laitsch of Dixonville, who operates the East End Dairy Store in the other half. With slightly more than 1,000 square feet of space, the building is 14 feet wide at the front and widens to 19 feet.

The move will begin when Station A closes as usual at noon Wednesday, the postmaster said, and the department expects to be ready for business at 8 a. m. Thursday.

The main problem will be the location of the "screen line" or postal boxes, Brown said. Because of the narrow width of the building, the postal boxes will be located along one side of the wall with a small space provided so postal clerks can "throw" mail to individual boxes.

The department has been searching for a new site for about 18 months. It has an option on some

Emergency Program Bill

Kennedy Signs Measure To Cut Grain Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has signed into law his first major bill—an emergency program designed to cut down tremendous surpluses in grains used to feed livestock.

Kennedy signed the bill Wednesday less than two hours after the Senate, by a 58-31 vote, completed congressional action. The House earlier approved the compromise bill 231-185.

Before Kennedy's signature was dry, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman set the law's machinery into action. Their urgency was prompted by the season—spring is here and planting of this year's feed grain crops already has started in some sections.

Freeman immediately made public the national average price supports for feed grains — corn, sorghums, oats, barley and rye. All supports were higher than last year's.

Then Freeman flew to Omaha to address today the first of three field meetings with Agriculture Department personnel. They will relay details of the program to farmers.

Freeman said Assistant Secretary James R. Ralph will address the second field meeting in Denver Friday, and Undersecretary

Signup Of Voters Ends With 10,518 Listed

East Liverpool has approximately 10,518 voters qualified for the May 2 primaries, the County Election Board said today after closing its books on registration Wednesday night at 9.

Sixty qualified in the final rush yesterday. It was the busiest day since the board opened its registration drive about a month ago.

Figures show only 132 have registered at the office since Jan. 1, exclusive of about 90 who reinstated their registration by mail after their names had been removed from the books in the annual year-end check.

Midland Tax Foes Launch Court Battle

13 Objections Cited In Tri-State Citizens Committee's Action

Opponents of Midland's new $10 occupation tax asked Beaver County Quarter Sessions Court today for a hearing on the legality of the levy to be collected from all persons working inside the borough.

The court set the hearing for April 13 and issued an order halting any further tax action by the borough until there is a ruling.

Council adopted the tax Feb. 23 on all who work there, including residents and non-residents. Non-resident employes formed a Tri-State Citizens' Committee and retained Atty. R. Clifton Hood of Beaver Falls to fight the tax.

About 60 attended a meeting of the committee Wednesday evening in the fire hall at Ohio View, Industry, and heard Atty. Hood outline the procedure to take the case to court.

Friday is the deadline and Atty. Hood filed the petition of 30 signatures—five more than required—and a $500 bond, requesting the public hearing at which both sides may present arguments.

The petition contains 13 objections, principally contending the tax ordinance "is wholly invalid because it purports to tax occupations of non - residents. . . .contrary to law."

The group claims the ordinance is defective on several points and violates the "due process clause of the 14th Amendment."

Atty. Hood said some of the objections are substantial and some are purely technical and "may not hold water." He said the matter has never been determined before and if it goes to trial and the borough wants to go on, "we may be guinea pigs" and "we'll be making legal history."

He said the tax has never been tested because it never occurred to many towns to pass it and direct it toward non-residents.

Tax

He said he is convinced the Midland tax is illegal and invalid especially in regard to the attempt to tax non-residents. He said Beaver Falls Council did not give final approval to an occupation tax on residents and non-residents it attempted to pass because of a question of its legality.

Atty. Hood said he did not want to convey to the group that "we can't lose." He said, "We have better than a 50-50 chance." He commended the committee for initiating action.

He mentioned the "Boston Tea Party" when "our country was taxed from 3,000 miles away" and said it "satisfied his soul to see patriotism flicker now."

He said under Act 481 and Public Law 1145, any aggrieved taxpayer or citizen has 30 days after the passage of the ordinance to file objections and a bond for a hearing. He said the bond shows the good faith of the petitioners.

The committee expects to have the question resolved at the hearing and does not plan action for an injunction at this time to stop the collection of the tax beginning June 1. Results of the hearing should be known before then.

One person attending said he is already paying an occupation tax in Vanport. There is a rumor that if the Midland tax is legal, Aliquippa may adopt it.

Asked if the committee could be sued for loss of taxes to the borough, Hood said no because the committee is appealing in good faith and it has no resources.

Some showed concern that if the tax is ruled legal, Midland may raise it later.

During discussion, it was brought out that by putting on the occupation tax and lowering the property tax 3 mills, there is more than a $10 tax savings to residents and a savings to the Midland Works of the Crucible steel Co.

John Guernsey of Brighton Township, chairman, presided, and introduced new committee officers elected recently. He said the committee still needs $250 and is seeking contributions.

Those attending signed the petition requiring 30 signatures and others a citizens' petition which will be circulated for 200 signatures to show that more than 30 are involved.

Hood, a notary public, witnessed the signatures.

Midland Council has contended that the tax is fair and just and "those who work in the borough and share in its services should help pay for them."

$40 In Change Stolen From Service Station

EAST PALESTINE — Some $40 in change was taken from Don's Service Station of W. Main and S. Market Sts. sometime Tuesday night, according to police who received the theft report Wednesday.

Loss was not realized until yesterday when Don Hull, owner, learned the money had not been taken home or placed in bank deposit by Howard Bush, who worked Tuesday night.

Police surmised the thief was in the service station during the day, unlatched a window, then returned Tuesday night to enter. Some $140 in checks and currency in a drawer were overlooked.

On Feb. 22, 1909, President Theodore Roosevelt reviewed the Great White Fleet at Hampton Roads, Va., upon its return from a world cruise.

Verdict Awaited Today In Highway Land Case

A verdict is expected late today in Common Pleas Court in the appropriation case of the Ohio Department of Highways for land owned by the Stover-Leslie Flying Service of East Liverpool.

The state appropriated four parcels of 5.31 acres needed for the Route 30 project.

The state offered $1,825 for the land and $600 for damage to residue. The owners claim a valuation for land and quarry of $110,000.

Judge Joel H. Sharp is presiding. The case began Monday morning.

Glenmoor Man Unhurt

A Glenmoor truck driver escaped injury in a traffic collision at the intersection of Routes 14 and 7 Wednesday night, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

A truck driven by Charles B. Herron, 30, of Glenmoor and a car operated by Gilbert Parella, 36, of Youngstown rammed at the intersection.

Jail Fugitive Nabbed In Car By City Police

A Salineville man who battered his way to freedom through the wall of the Salineville Village Jail early Tuesday was recaptured Wednesday afternoon by East Liverpool police while seated in an auto at a West End service station.

Robert Sturgill, who fled from the jail while awaiting a hearing on an assault and battery charge filed by his wife, was taken into custody about 12:05 by Capt. Robert Pyle and Patrolman Floyd Heddleston.

Sturgill offered no resistance and admitted his identity readily, Capt. Pyle said.

He was held in City Jail until about 4 p. m., when Salineville authorities conveyed him to the County Jail at Lisbon to await arraignment this afternoon on a jail-breaking charge.

Capt. Pyle said he and Officer Heddleston spotted Sturgill seated in an auto driven by another man which was halted at the gas pumps at a service station at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts.

Salineville police said Sturgill battered an 18-inch square hole through the wall of the jail, using pieces of 2-x-4 lumber from the ceiling and a metal bar which he obtained from an unknown source.

Police Chief Cleo Mellott of Salinevlle, who placed a charge of jail escape against Sturgill under the state code, said he is slated for a hearing this afternoon at 2 before County Judge James McDonald.

Police said Sturgill was in the 1954 auto of George Freeman of East Liverpool on which Sturgill had been working recently at his Salineville home.

Sturgill told police he was en route to Salineville "to give myself up" when apprehended.

Sturgill apparently went to his own home on foot, and drove away in Freeman's car instead of his own.

He told Chief Mellott he had slept in the car overnight in West Virginia, but didn't say where. He told Mellott that 15 minutes after he left the jail he was "sorry." Chief Mellott along with Larry Boals, an auxiliary policeman, took Sturgill into custody here and transferred him to Lisbon.

Sturgill's wife yesterday withdrew the assault charge and paid court costs at Salineville.

The first National League battling champion was Roscoe Barnes of Chicago, who hit .403 during the 1876 season.

Tax

He said he is convinced the Midland tax is illegal and invalid especially in regard to the attempt to tax non-residents. He said Beaver Falls Council did not give final approval to an occupation tax on residents and non-residents it attempted to pass because of a question of its legality.

Atty. Hood said he did not want to convey to the group that "we can't lose." He said, "We have better than a 50-50 chance." He commended the committee for initiating action.

He mentioned the "Boston Tea Party" when "our country was taxed from 3,000 miles away" and said it "satisfied his soul to see patriotism flicker now."

He said under Act 481 and Public Law 1145, any aggrieved taxpayer or citizen has 30 days after the passage of the ordinance to file objections and a bond for a hearing. He said the bond shows the good faith of the petitioners.

The committee expects to have the question resolved at the hearing and does not plan action for an injunction at this time to stop the collection of the tax beginning June 1. Results of the hearing should be known before then.

One person attending said he is already paying an occupation tax in Vanport. There is a rumor that if the Midland tax is legal, Aliquippa may adopt it.

Asked if the committee could be sued for loss of taxes to the borough, Hood said no because the committee is appealing in good faith and it has no resources.

Some showed concern that if the tax is ruled legal, Midland may raise it later.

During discussion, it was brought out that by putting on the occupation tax and lowering the property tax 3 mills, there is more than a $10 tax savings to residents and a savings to the Midland Works of the Crucible steel Co.

John Guernsey of Brighton Township, chairman, presided, and introduced new committee officers elected recently. He said the committee still needs $250 and is seeking contributions.

Those attending signed the petition requiring 30 signatures and others a citizens' petition which will be circulated for 200 signatures to show that more than 30 are involved.

Hood, a notary public, witnessed the signatures.

Midland Council has contended that the tax is fair and just and "those who work in the borough and share in its services should help pay for them."

Jail Fugitive Nabbed In Car By City Police

A Salineville man who battered his way to freedom through the wall of the Salineville Village Jail early Tuesday was recaptured Wednesday afternoon by East Liverpool police while seated in an auto at a West End service station.

Robert Sturgill, who fled from the jail while awaiting a hearing on an assault and battery charge filed by his wife, was taken into custody about 12:05 by Capt. Robert Pyle and Patrolman Floyd Heddleston.

Sturgill offered no resistance and admitted his identity readily, Capt. Pyle said.

He was held in City Jail until about 4 p. m., when Salineville authorities conveyed him to the County Jail at Lisbon to await arraignment this afternoon on a jail-breaking charge.

Capt. Pyle said he and Officer Heddleston spotted Sturgill seated in an auto driven by another man which was halted at the gas pumps at a service station at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts.

Salineville police said Sturgill battered an 18-inch square hole through the wall of the jail, using pieces of 2-x-4 lumber from the ceiling and a metal bar which he obtained from an unknown source.

Police Chief Cleo Mellott of Salinevlle, who placed a charge of jail escape against Sturgill under the state code, said he is slated for a hearing this afternoon at 2 before County Judge James McDonald.

Police said Sturgill was in the 1954 auto of George Freeman of East Liverpool on which Sturgill had been working recently at his Salineville home.

Something That Had To Be Done

Though certain to be unpopular, the order by the Board of Public Utilities increasing water rates here appears to be another of those necessary evils.

The action came after three successive years of decline in revenue.

Board members, in announcing the boost, explained that the decision was reached with the feeling that the department should not have to borrow money to make improvements or maintain the water system and to assure sufficient income for normal operations and liquidation.

It is to the board's credit that it refused to take the easy way out by sitting back and doing nothing. The longer the delay in correcting such problems the more costly the eventual solution.

The situation in a sense is comparable to a leak in the roof. A home owner could shrug the whole thing off with, "It's only a little hole and not causing much damage so I'll fix it later." The result? Before long the hole had expanded to the point where it was necessary to replace the entire roof at a far greater cost than would have been necessary to make repairs in the first place.

With constantly mounting budget problems, the average resident must feel at times that the roof literally is falling in. But problems at hand can't be ignored simply because their solution may have an unpopular appeal.

Now that the board has acted, it is its responsibility to see that the resulting funds are spent judiciously. Clear-thinking residents can accept certain sacrifices if the ultimate results justify them.

It Would Make A Difference

President Kennedy has said his administration aims to reduce unemployment to 4 per cent of the country's working force. The percentage of unemployment in February was 6.8. It is interesting to know how the statistic is compiled. Everybody who talks about unemployment should know.

It is the total of all employed persons and unemployed persons divided into the total of unemployed persons. But that does not begin to reveal how measurement of employment and unemployment has led the United States down the path of statistical uncertainty.

Anyone 14 years old or older actively hunting for a job is regarded as unemployed. Anyone holding a job is regarded as employed. The total is the nation's working force. How, then, is the percentage of unemployment determined—by first counting these two tremendous totals? That would be impossible.

The Department of Labor asks questions in about 33,000 households in 333 areas throughout the United States. It checks with 180,000 companies. From this information it concocts a statistical projection of how things would be if they were true to the image of 33,000 households in 333 communities and 180,000 companies.

On this shaky postulation, the government then issues statistics on which depend the outcome of political campaigns and the planning of management. Labor unions seize the so-called official figures and pound collective bargaining tables with them. Political parties beat each other to a pulp with them on campaign platforms.

Of all the information issued in this sensitive area of public information, the only information with a basis of fact is the total of persons collecting unemployment compensation. This is an actual figure compiled in field offices and assembled in Washington—a count instead of a postulation.

There is no basis for international comparison of employment and unemployment because all countries use their own definitions and their own methods of arriving at totals. In the United States, where sampling is more trusted than it is anywhere else and possibly trusted too much for the nation's good, there has been misgiving for a long time about the setup.

If President Kennedy were to tell Secretary of Labor Goldberg to find a setup that would make unemployment dwindle to 4 per cent, it could be done in a month. It would be just as easy to make it jump to 9 per cent, if that were desirable. There might have been no change in the actual percentage, but the fact is no one knows what the actual percentage is.

It is higher than it should be for the nation's good; that is the only thing about it that's subject to proof.

The Wrong Way

While the officer concerned cannot rightfully be criticized for doing his duty, sounder judgment seemed in order in the wholesale ticketing of autos on Avondale St. in view of the circumstances.

The tickets were issued for wrong-way parking in accordance with traffic regulations. The point that must be taken into consideration, however, is that the regulation in this case had been waived during the winter and no warning given Avondale residents that is was back in effect.

The administration appears to have been caught in the middle of an embarrassing incident, as was the previous administration in a comparable situation.

Regardless of who was right and who was wrong, it should be made certain that there is not a recurrence.

The next time such regulations are relaxed — on Avondale or any other street — wholesale ticketing should not be resumed until a clearcut notice is issued that the regulations are back in effect.

Parkers ticketed from now on until next winter, however, will have no justifiable complaint. Avondale St. was a clear enough warning that "wrong-way" cars can expect a red ticket.

The Once Over

New postmaster general announces he will make it possible for you to mail a letter without possessing great patience, perfect control of temper and ability to make swift decision whether to put stamp on letter or paste letter on stamp.

Out the window at last will go the PO custom of designing, printing and issuing four-cent stamps with weekly "model changes," affecting size, shape, color and main purpose of a postage stamp, which is to get the mail delivered.

For the last eight years the Post Office has been turning out stamps in honor of everything from first fold-bed, red undershirt and horsefly net to Battle of the Okay Corral, the Corbett-Sullivan fight and the earliest American animal cracker.

Mr. Summerfield made postage stamps No. 1 Public Irritant. You couldn't be sure at the stamp window whether you were getting something to paste on a letter or something which could be used to get a set of dishes when you saved 1000.

You asked for a four-cent stamp but knew you might get something resembling a kidney plaster, a corn-pad or a circus poster. For generations a man who wished to mail a letter could be sure the stamp would be the same size, same shape and in same color scheme. There was no danger it would be out of style before it went the distance. A buyer never had to question whether he could lift it.

New postmaster general, J. Edward Day, will reduce commemorative stamps from 42 last year to 15 during 1961. 'Player Of The Year'

Kenny Cunningham, East Liverpool High School's brilliant athlete, continues to thrill local sport fans though the basketball season is over.

His being named to two all-state teams and being selected as The Associated Press "Player of the Year" in Ohio will be topics of conversation for weeks to come among Potter fans.

Kenny's exploits have been appreciated locally for some time. It is pleasing that they now are receiving additional recognition on a statewide level. Kenny has been a credit to the high school which he has represented so capably in athletic endeavors the last four years.

He now is facing an even greater opportunity both athletically and educationally as he moves up to the college level. You can be sure Potter fans will still be in Cunningham's corner when that time comes.

Kenny's record speaks for itself. All that needs to be added here are congratulations for past achievements and best wishes in those which lie ahead.

John Day Jackson died last week. When only a few years out of college, he bought an honored but bankrupt newspaper in a five-newspaper city, New Haven, Conn., built it into one of the most successful papers in New England and acquired all the competitors. As a cub reporter we got our first job under him and we never knew a more dynamic publisher. He was high strung, tense, tireless and never seemed to relax but lived to be 92 and was on the job daily until the last year or two.

Michigan college professor, Dr. Charles Boas, has quit the classroom to run away with circus. He will perform as a clown all summer, returning to classes in winter. Few men have not felt urge to join a circus and many have come close to making the jump. We hope Dr. Boas will have a wonderful time clowning with the circus and we think he will make a better teacher as result of his experience.

Missile Base Strike Costs Criticized

By Victor Riesel

For some weeks now there have been arguments over reports that missile base workers have earned as much as $1,000 a week in pay including overtime forced by the need to make up for wildcat strikes.

Victor Riesel

Union chiefs say it's just not possible. But now along comes Sen. Karl Mundt of South Dakota with a flat statement, right on paper, that he has evidence this is so.

The senator says he has seen the reports of McClellan committee investigators who have just returned from the missile bomb pits in the field.

Undoubtedly Mr. Mudt is starting a Hatfield-McCoy thing with the nation's construction union chiefs, so here are his own words:

"As in Florida, where enforced overtime has virtually resulted at times in fantastic wage rates as high as $1,000 a week to union craftsmen and from $600 to $800 weekly to other construction workmen, staff investigators found in California for instance, electricians have received as high as $11 per hour at an overtime rate and $700 per week."

ALSO, in referring to scores of stoppages of all kinds, Mundt hurled this one:

"This recent investigation into these matters at Vandenberg Air Force Base and other operational bases throughout the Far West and Midwest indicates that constant irritation of the type found at Cape Canaveral exists, although not in the magnitude and to the marked degree as found in Florida."

Since Mundt laid this on the line so bluntly, I tried to check it out to learn how many such confortable pay checks were handed out. I ran into some $700 tabs. Not as difficult to find were $500 to $600 a week — plus overtime — earnings.

With no trouble at all you run into a blizzard of $250 to $350 a week checks. This is fine if it isn't overtime which hikes the pay. These are skilled men—electronic artists almost, some of them.

Don't doubt it. Just look at this description of what missile work really is:

In the early, simpler launching pads there were some 7,500 mechanical parts; 1,100 hydraulic parts; 11,375 pneumatic parts. 650 miles of wiring connected to 27,000 terminals.

THE NEWER PADS now are entirely underground. The missile slips right into a pit 175 feet deep taking 3,200 yards of concrete; 600 tons of reinforcing steel; and swiftly opening 30-inch thick steel "doors" at the top weighing more than 140 tons apiece.

Complicated pipelines, valve systems, tanks and control systems and hundreds of feet of piping for each pad must be installed under conditions as sterile and clean as a hospital operating room. These pipes are built to handle helium, nitrogen and liquid oxygen.

At least four different kinds of bases are being built in the United States now. The cost is enormous, because the skilled work force—as well as the equipment — is huge. There are, for example, 127 Atlas launching pads for the monster alone.

No one can really tell you just how much each of these costs at any one moment. There are 26 missile bases now. And a gargantuan contract has just been let for the construction of the double killer Minute Man missile at Malstrom base, Great Falls, Mont.

UNION OFFICIALS say they roll up a peak of 4,000 construction workers at each base over a 30-month period. That is 4,000 a day on construction. The Pentagon, however, operates on the "Doctrine of Concurrency."

The bombs are installed as construction goes on. This brings in more men. Just what overtime—induced by strikes—can cost no one can yet guess.

But, in all fairness, it must be pointed out that last month the national building and construction union chiefs warned all their locals at the bases not to strike until they had "exhausted" all local remedies—and then not to walk out without national official permission.

Union members were told to walk right through unauthorized picket lines and give no help to wildcatters. This has cut down quickie strikes. Good. We have no time to waste in this race.

After reading this evening's Review (March 21) and the article about the city officials of East Liverpool planning a parking lot where the Ceramic Theater stands, I would like to make a suggestion.

This parking lot that is planned offers the officials an opportunity to provide a better parking place than now planned. Erect a building or parking place like in Steubenville or Youngstown. Instead of 40 cars, 140 cars or more could be handled. There is a lot of money to be involved now as planned; why not spend a little more and put the right kind of parking place in?

Foreign Aid Mystery

By David Lawrence

Showdown Needed On U.S. 'Generosity'

When are the people of the United States really going to be informed about the issues involved in spending billions of dollars for "foreign aid"?

David Lawrence

President Kennedy is planning to pursue the same formula, with some minor modifications, that was used by the Republican and Democratic adminstrations preceding him. The idea is to grant funds and lend money on the theory that the United States has a humanitarian obligation to the poverty-stricken countries of the world. There is also an implication that, unless the United States helps these various countries, Soviet Russia will move in and take over.

The time is approaching, however, for a showdown on just how far the United States should go in extending foreign aid and what it should expect in return from the countries aided.

The biggest single factor that calls for full and thorough exposure is what may be termed "official blackmail." Government after government takes money from both sides. The moment the United States slows down its aid, there is a noticeable manifestation of interest in what the Communists may have to offer. High officials of such a government promptly arrange to visit Moscow or threaten to do so. This is perhaps the favorite of all the tricks to impress America.

Just why any government would want to be neutral as between communism and democracy is difficult to understand but the word neutralist has suddenly become a most respectable term.

There was a time when the difference between freedom and tyranny was clearly understood and no persuasive reason was offered why any country should be neutral as between the two.

The fact is, moreover, that many countries in Latin America, as well as in Asia and Africa and even in Europe, today are convinced that, if they adopt a neutral position, the United States will come through with large sums of money.

CONGRESS has been bewildered by the growing scope of America's foreign aid program. It is recognized, of course, that some appropriations should be made to strengthen the military position of the United States and of the Western countries in the uncommitted areas.

In certain instances money spent to help a national economy or to build up local military forces is a good investment in security for the United States but when the program reaches into the broader aspects of "culture and education," it becomes far more controversial.

If America did not have a national debt of nearly $300 billion and were operating under a balanced budget, and if taxes in the United States were not so burdensome, and if there were no recession in America with more than five million persons unemployed, it might sound reasonable for a part of the surplus bounty of the American people to be given away.

But the question now is whether the United States can afford to be as generous in its foreign-aid program as it has been in the past.

UNDOUBTEDLY the Marshall Plan paid off. It gave the nations of Europe needed support in recovering after the war.

This was, in a large sense, a military proposition. It was important for the United States to build allies in Europe.

There is no such justification for the building up of neutrals, for instance, in Africa among countries who never will ally themselves with the United States or the West.

Under the circumstances, America may well be paying out funds to countries which will soon be strong enough to become important adjuncts of the Communist apparatus.

This is the chance which the American people are taking. The idea now is being advanced that the Washington government should exact some assurances as to how the money will be spent and as to whether the countries will put their military forces at the disposal of the United States in the event of serious trouble with the Communists.

Unless the taxpayers' money is being spent for the defense of the people of the United States, it is difficult to see how, in the long run, huge expenditures to countries which are playing both ends against the middle can be justified.

There are countries like Egypt, for example, which permit the Communist apparatus to function inside their borders and yet who want financial assistance from this country.

The real question is whether the countries that are being assisted are truly friends of the United States or whether they are now or may later become a part of the Communist apparatus.

It is upon these fundamental issues in the foreign aid problem that Congress is being urged to require a great deal of information before embarking upon the programs being recommended to it by the Kennedy administration.

Tidiness And More Mileage

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

In the name of tidiness and more mileage President Kennedy has proposed a new way of handling foreign aid. It's a disorderly mess now, with a history that goes way back.

Congress bought Secretary of State George C. Marshall's idea in June, 1947 when he suggested a program of aid to European countries to get them back on their feet after the war and save them from communism.

But when Congress set this foreign aid program in motion the next year it took it out from under Marshall's wing and created a new agency, the Economic Cooperation Administration, under Paul G. Hoffman.

This was just one more step in a story which started back in the war years: Taking more and more control away from the State Department in foreign dealings and scattering it around Washington.

In time Europe began bursting with prosperity and the aid program shifted course, with help going to backward countries. Marshall's original idea is now worldwide and there is no end to foreign aid in sight.

Since the end of World War II, the United States has spent $85.8 billion in such aid, of which $60.4 billion was in economic help, $25.4 billion in military assistance.

Just last week the Senate approved this country's joining OECD—Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development—a 20-nation group.

Through it this country and its friends and allies can work out their own economic and trade problems while sharing in aid to the underdeveloped nations.

The United States and its European allies have been spending aboug $7 billion a year to help the world's needy nations, with the American share being more than half. The Communists spend about $715 million a year.

Meanwhile, there was the problem, growing through the years, of scattered control over American efforts in the foreign field.

Last February a Senate subcommittee staff report complained of the Washington "foul up factor:" The result of the growth of so-called inter-agency coordinating committees.

These committees give dozens of departments and offices a hand in making policy. The report deplored the dilution of the secretary of state's responsibilities.

Kennedy has been abolishing a number of committees and he proposed Wednesday that all foreign aid except the military kind —which would be handled by the Defense Department—be put under one agency.

And he proposed to Congress that the administrator of this agency should report directly to Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the President.

Rusk would coordinate with the economic aid the military assistance administered by the Defense Department. As an example of what Kennedy was talking about, here's what he said:

"I propose that our separate and often confusing aid programs be integrated into a single administration embracing the present Washington and field operations of:

"The International Cooperation Administration (the successor to the agency which handled the Marshall Plan) and all its technical assistance (Point Four) and other programs; the Development Loan Fund; the food for peace program in its relations with other countries, while also recognizing its essential role in our farm economy; the local lending activities of the Export-Import Bank; the Peace Corps, recognizing its distinctive contribution beyond the area of economic development; the donation of non-agricultural surpluses from other national stockpiles of excess commodities or equipment; all other related staff and program services now provided by the Department of State as well as ICA."

Something That Had To Be Done

Though certain to be unpopular, the order by the Board of Public Utilities increasing water rates here appears to be another of those necessary evils.

The action came after three successive years of decline in revenue.

Board members, in announcing the boost, explained that the decision was reached with the feeling that the department should not have to borrow money to make improvements or maintain the water system and to assure sufficient income for normal operations and liquidation.

It is to the board's credit that it refused to take the easy way out by sitting back and doing nothing. The longer the delay in correcting such problems the more costly the eventual solution.

The situation in a sense is comparable to a leak in the roof. A home owner could shrug the whole thing off with, "It's only a little hole and not causing much damage so I'll fix it later." The result? Before long the hole had expanded to the point where it was necessary to replace the entire roof at a far greater cost than would have been necessary to make repairs in the first place.

With constantly mounting budget problems, the average resident must feel at times that the roof literally is falling in. But problems at hand can't be ignored simply because their solution may have an unpopular appeal.

Now that the board has acted, it is its responsibility to see that the resulting funds are spent judiciously. Clear-thinking residents can accept certain sacrifices if the ultimate results justify them.

It Would Make A Difference

President Kennedy has said his administration aims to reduce unemployment to 4 per cent of the country's working force. The percentage of unemployment in February was 6.8. It is interesting to know how the statistic is compiled. Everybody who talks about unemployment should know.

It is the total of all employed persons and unemployed persons divided into the total of unemployed persons. But that does not begin to reveal how measurement of employment and unemployment has led the United States down the path of statistical uncertainty.

Anyone 14 years old or older actively hunting for a job is regarded as unemployed. Anyone holding a job is regarded as employed. The total is the nation's working force. How, then, is the percentage of unemployment determined—by first counting these two tremendous totals? That would be impossible.

The Department of Labor asks questions in about 33,000 households in 333 areas throughout the United States. It checks with 180,000 companies. "This recent investigation into these matters at Vandenberg Air Force Base and other operational bases throughout the Far West and Midwest indicates that constant irritation of the type found at Cape Canaveral exists, although not in the magnitude and to the marked degree as found in Florida."

Since Mundt laid this on the line so bluntly, I tried to check it out to learn how many such confortable pay checks were handed out. I ran into some $700 tabs. Not as difficult to find were $500 to $600 a week — plus overtime — earnings.

With no trouble at all you run into a blizzard of $250 to $350 a week checks. This is fine if it isn't overtime which hikes the pay. These are skilled men—electronic artists almost, some of them.

Don't doubt it. Just look at this description of what missile work really is:

In the early, simpler launching pads there were some 7,500 mechanical parts; 1,100 hydraulic parts; 11,375 pneumatic parts, 650 miles of wiring connected to 27,000 terminals.

THE NEWER PADS now are entirely underground. The missile slips right into a pit 175 feet deep taking 3,200 yards of concrete; 600 tons of reinforcing steel; and swiftly opening 30-inch thick steel "doors" at the top weighing more than 140 tons apiece.

Complicated pipelines, valve systems, tanks and control systems and hundreds of feet of piping for each pad must be installed under conditions as sterile and clean as a hospital operating room. These pipes are built to handle helium, nitrogen and liquid oxygen.

At least four different kinds of bases are being built in the United States now. The cost is enormous, because the skilled work force—as well as the equipment — is huge. There are, for example, 127 Atlas launching pads for the monster alone.

No one can really tell you just how much each of these costs at any one moment. There are 26 missile bases now. And a gargantuan contract has just been let for the construction of the double killer Minute Man missile at Malstrom base, Great Falls, Mont.

UNION OFFICIALS say they roll up a peak of 4,000 construction workers at each base over a 30-month period. That is 4,000 a day on construction. The Pentagon, however, operates on the "Doctrine of Concurrency."

The bombs are installed as construction goes on. This brings in more men. Just what overtime—induced by strikes—can cost no one can yet guess.

But, in all fairness, it must be pointed out that last month the national building and construction union chiefs warned all their locals at the bases not to strike until they had "exhausted" all local remedies—and then not to walk out without national official permission.

Union members were told to walk right through unauthorized picket lines and give no help to wildcatters. This has cut down quickie strikes. Good. We have no time to waste in this race.

I continue to feel sorry for all the cartoonists, who have failed completely to do anything creditable with a caricature of John F. Kennedy. Because the young President has a strong face and a head of hair that's a caricature in itself, cartoonists are ending up with what looks like badly done portraits, instead of cleverly drawn caricatures.

Letter To Editor

After reading this evening's Review (March 21) and the article about the city officials of East Liverpool planning a parking lot where the Ceramic Theater stands, I would like to make a suggestion.

This parking lot that is planned offers the officials an opportunity to provide a better parking place than now planned. Erect a building or parking place like in Steubenville or Youngstown. Instead of 40 cars, 140 cars or more could be handled. There is a lot of money to be involved now as planned; why not spend a little more and put the right kind of parking place in?

Foreign Aid Mystery

By David Lawrence

Showdown Needed On U.S. 'Generosity'

When are the people of the United States really going to be informed about the issues involved in spending billions of dollars for "foreign aid"?

David Lawrence

President Kennedy is planning to pursue the same formula, with some minor modifications, that was used by the Republican and Democratic adminstrations preceding him. The idea is to grant funds and lend money on the theory that the United States has a humanitarian obligation to the poverty-stricken countries of the world. There is also an implication that, unless the United States helps these various countries, Soviet Russia will move in and take over.

The time is approaching, however, for a showdown on just how far the United States should go in extending foreign aid and what it should expect in return from the countries aided.

The biggest single factor that calls for full and thorough exposure is what may be termed "official blackmail." Government after government takes money from both sides. The moment the United States slows down its aid, there is a noticeable manifestation of interest in what the Communists may have to offer. High officials of such a government promptly arrange to visit Moscow or threaten to do so. This is perhaps the favorite of all the tricks to impress America.

Just why any government would want to be neutral as between communism and democracy is difficult to understand but the word neutralist has suddenly become a most respectable term.

There was a time when the difference between freedom and tyranny was clearly understood and no persuasive reason was offered why any country should be neutral as between the two.

The fact is, moreover, that many countries in Latin America, as well as in Asia and Africa and even in Europe, today are convinced that, if they adopt a neutral position, the United States will come through with large sums of money.

CONGRESS has been bewildered by the growing scope of America's foreign aid program. It is recognized, of course, that some appropriations should be made to strengthen the military position of the United States and of the Western countries in the uncommitted areas.

In certain instances money spent to help a national economy or to build up local military forces is a good investment in security for the United States but when the program reaches into the broader aspects of "culture and education," it becomes far more controversial.

If America did not have a national debt of nearly $300 billion and were operating under a balanced budget, and if taxes in the United States were not so burdensome, and if there were no recession in America with more than five million persons unemployed, it might sound reasonable for a part of the surplus bounty of the American people to be given away.

But the question now is whether the United States can afford to be as generous in its foreign-aid program as it has been in the past.

UNDOUBTEDLY the Marshall Plan paid off. It gave the nations of Europe needed support in recovering after the war.

This was, in a large sense, a military proposition. It was important for the United States to build allies in Europe.

There is no such justification for the building up of neutrals, for instance, in Africa among countries who never will ally themselves with the United States or the West.

Under the circumstances, America may well be paying out funds to countries which will soon be strong enough to become important adjuncts of the Communist apparatus.

This is the chance which the American people are taking. The idea now is being advanced that the Washington government should exact some assurances as to how the money will be spent and as to whether the countries will put their military forces at the disposal of the United States in the event of serious trouble with the Communists.

Unless the taxpayers' money is being spent for the defense of the people of the United States, it is difficult to see how, in the long run, huge expenditures to countries which are playing both ends against the middle can be justified.

There are countries like Egypt, for example, which permit the Communist apparatus to function inside their borders and yet who want financial assistance from this country.

The real question is whether the countries that are being assisted are truly friends of the United States or whether they are now or may later become a part of the Communist apparatus.

It is upon these fundamental issues in the foreign aid problem that Congress is being urged to require a great deal of information before embarking upon the programs being recommended to it by the Kennedy administration.

Tidiness And More Mileage

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

In the name of tidiness and more mileage President Kennedy has proposed a new way of handling foreign aid. It's a disorderly mess now, with a history that goes way back.

Congress bought Secretary of State George C. Marshall's idea in June, 1947 when he suggested a program of aid to European countries to get them back on their feet after the war and save them from communism.

But when Congress set this foreign aid program in motion the next year it took it out from under Marshall's wing and created a new agency, the Economic Cooperation Administration, under Paul G. Hoffman.

This was just one more step in a story which started back in the war years: Taking more and more control away from the State Department in foreign dealings and scattering it around Washington.

In time Europe began bursting with prosperity and the aid program shifted course, with help going to backward countries. Marshall's original idea is now worldwide and there is no end to foreign aid in sight.

Since the end of World War II, the United States has spent $85.8 billion in such aid, of which $60.4 billion was in economic help, $25.4 billion in military assistance.

Just last week the Senate approved this country's joining OECD—Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development—a 20-nation group.

Through it this country and its friends and allies can work out their own economic and trade problems while sharing in aid to the underdeveloped nations.

The United States and its European allies have been spending aboug $7 billion a year to help the world's needy nations, with the American share being more than half. The Communists spend about $715 million a year.

Meanwhile, there was the problem, growing through the years, of scattered control over American efforts in the foreign field.

Last February a Senate subcommittee staff report complained of the Washington "foul-up factor:" The result of the growth of so-called inter-agency coordinating committees.

These committees give dozens of departments and offices a hand in making policy. The report deplored the dilution of the secretary of state's responsibilities.

Kennedy has been abolishing a number of committees and he proposed Wednesday that all foreign aid except the military kind —which would be handled by the Defense Department—be put under one agency.

And he proposed to Congress that the administrator of this agency should report directly to Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the President.

Rusk would coordinate with the economic aid the military assistance administered by the Defense Department. As an example of what Kennedy was talking about, here's what he said:

"I propose that our separate and often confusing aid programs be integrated into a single administration embracing the present Washington and field operations of:

"The International Cooperation Administration (the successor to the agency which handled the Marshall Plan) and all its technical assistance (Point Four) and other programs; the Development Loan Fund; the food for peace program in its relations with other countries, while also recognizing its essential role in our farm economy; the local lending activities of the Export-Import Bank; the Peace Corps, recognizing its distinctive contribution beyond the area of economic development; the donation of non-agricultural surpluses from other national stockpiles of excess commodities or equipment; all other related staff and program services now provided by the Department of State as well as ICA."

sites for a new branch post office, but approval is required by regional and Washington postal authorities.

He declined to reveal the proposed sites, but one is reported to be on Pennsylvania Ave. near Boyce St., several blocks east of the present location.

First Federal has been renting the present building to the postal department under a month - to - month agreement since the department's lease expired April 30, 1960, A. L. White, secretary-treasurer, said.

Anxious to begin remodeling to take care of the increased business, the savings firm notified Brown and the regional real estate officer on March 1 that the present agreement would be ended this month.

The firm has been waiting for nearly a year to allow postal authorities to select a new site, White explained. Having outgrown its present cramped quarters, it could not wait any longer to begin expansion, he continued.

Plans now are being prepared for the extensive remodeling of both the exterior and interior of the First Federal building, White said. Architect Robert Beatty is preparing the plans.

Formerly called Laughlin's after the East End railroad depot, Station A has occupied the building since it was erected in 1914.

sites for a new branch post office, but approval is required by regional and Washington postal authorities.

He declined to reveal the proposed sites, but one is reported to be on Pennsylvania Ave. near Boyce St., several blocks east of the present location.

First Federal has been renting the present building to the postal department under a month - to - month agreement since the department's lease expired April 30, 1960, A. L. White, secretary-treasurer, said.

Anxious to begin remodeling to take care of the increased business, the savings firm notified Brown and the regional real estate officer on March 1 that the present agreement would be ended this month.

The firm has been waiting for nearly a year to allow postal authorities to select a new site, White explained. Having outgrown its present cramped quarters, it could not wait any longer to begin expansion, he continued.

Plans now are being prepared for the extensive remodeling of both the exterior and interior of the First Federal building, White said. Architect Robert Beatty is preparing the plans.

Formerly called Laughlin's after the East End railroad depot, Station A has occupied the building since it was erected in 1914.

House Group Sidetracks Bill On Human Slaughter

By DUANE E. CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The controversial humane slaughter bill in the Ohio General Assembly has been sidetracked temporarily into a House sub-committee.

The action was taken Wednesday by the parent Public Welfare Committee after nearly three hours of testimony and adoption of an amendment exempting religious ritualistic slaughter from the terms of the measure.

The bill, cosponsored by Rep. Bernice K. MacKenzie, D-Stark, would apply to Ohio meat packers' regulations similar to those enacted by Congress in 1958. The federal law applies only to slaughterers whose meat is sold to the U.S. government.

A number of Jewish rabbis presented testimony which led to the adoption of the religious exemption, which also is included in the federal law. The vote on the amendment was 12-3, with Reps. Jess Dempster, D - Tuscarawas, and Fred Rice, R-Jackson, among those voting against it.

Mrs. MacKenzie told the committee she would go along with the amendment "with great reluctance," commenting that she could not understand how "sticking an alert, conscious animal is a humane act."

This was in reference to the rabbis' testimony that the Jewish slaughtering ritual is concerned with mercy for the animal.

Succeeding witnesses, representing farmers and meat packers, told the committee the installation of mechanical equipment required by the bill would force many of the smaller packing firms in the state to close down or reduce their operations.

They contended that small firms operate on such narrow profit margins that the investment of even $8000 to $10,000 in new equipment would be harmful to them. They added that in this respect the bill favors large-scale packing houses.

Some members of the committee indicated they believe the measure would be unenforcable unless complete and uniform inspection of all the more than 300 packing houses in Ohio would inaugurate it.

In a rebuttal session, sponsors and backers of the bill who have been heard in previous hearings, took issue with some of the opponents' arguments, including a claim that the methods required in the bill are no more humane than others currently in use.

Proponents also argued that many meat packers prefer the modern methods because they produce better quality meat.

Rep. Ethel Swandeck, R-Erie, chairman of the parent committee, instructed the sub groups to consider the economic, religious and federal aspects of the issue before reporting back.

Wellsville Permit Transfer Requested

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control at Columbus is processing an application from Donald D. Chapel of Wellsville to transfer the liquor licenses from the Riverview Hotel to another location, according to Richard C. Crough, director.

The application, filed March 15 by Chapel, operator of the hotel, asks that the permits be transferred to a location at 555 Main St.

Chapel holds D-1, D-2, D-3, and D-3A permits which allow the sale of 3.2 beer for on premises consumption and carry-out, sale of high powered beer and wine for consumption and carry - out, the sale of liquor and wine by the glass in a restaurant until 1 a. m. and a permit to remain open until 2:30 a. m.

Chapel said he plans to open a small cafe but would not comment on the hotel business.

Jaycees' Post-Prom Party Changed To Westgate School

The Junior Chamber of Commerce post-prom committee today announced a major innovation in plans for the ninth annual event for East Liverpool High School students.

Robert Brooks, chairman, said the party following the Junior-Senior Prom Friday, May 12, will be held at Westgate School instead of at Memorial Auditorium as in the past.

The change was made for three reasons, he said. It provides a better place to fed the students as the cafeteria can be utilized, dancing can be held in the gymnasium and the auditorium can be used to show a full-length movie.

The party will continue from 12:30 to 6 a. m. In the past, students were first taken to a theater for the movie and then returned to the MA to eat.

Brooks pointed out the students will be chaperoned at all times. He said a band will be obtained to provide music for dancing, instead of using records.

The committee has met with Junior Class representatives and the menu and professional entertainment has been selected. They now are choosing a movie, Brooks said.

At least three acts will be presented besides the band. Brooks said the Jaycees will provide transportation from the MA where the prom is held, to Westgate for those who need it.

He said that once the students are at the post-prom party, they will not be allowed to leave unless they sign out. They then will not be covered by the curfew waiver obtained from the city officials.

No smoke or drinking will be allowed.

The Jaycees sponsor the party annually in an effort to keep the students off the highways and out of area night clubs. It also provides them with an evening of entertainment and refreshments at a nominal cost.

Books said his committee will hold another meeting in April to review all arrangements.

Work To Start Soon On Replacing Bridge

Jefferson County Engineer Martin M. Smith said today work will be started in about a week on erecting a new steel truss bridge along the Old Irondale Rd. in Hammondsville.

The new span over Little Yellow Creek will replace a structure which collapsed last week under the weight of a tractor-trailer rig loaded with bricks from a nearby H. K. Porter Co. plant in Cream City.

The engineer said bids are being received by Jefferson County commissioners. The bridge that was demolished was 34 years old.

Cleveland Firm Buys Ironton Fire Brick Co.

CLEVELAND (AP) — North American Refractories Co. of Cleveland has purchased Ironton Fire Brick Co. of Ironton, Ohio. Ironton Fire Brick, with annual sales of about $1,250,000, makes plastics, mortar, cement and related refractory products, as well as firebrick.

E. F. Myers, chairman and president of Ironton, has retired from active service but will be on the board of North America. E.W. Valensi, North American president, says acquisition of Ironton, coupled with the start of North American's new basic refractory plant in Womelsdorf, Pa., will improve substantially the firm's competitive position.

Projects Outlined By Scout Advisor

Plans for fund-raising projects and future activities were outlined at a meeting of the adult advisory committee of Boy Scout Explorer Post 36 Tuesday night at the Longs Run United Presbyterian Church.

The post will collect soft drink bottles, papers and scrap metal. Members also will operate a booth at the Calcutta fire department's carnival this summer. The committee also discussed holding a square dance.

Three members of the post will go on a cruise on Lake Erie April 15-16 as guests of the Navy.

The post may conduct a spring cleanup along community roads. A hike will be held Saturday beginning at 10 a. m. Members of the post are to meet at the church for transportation to the point of beginning. They are to take a sack lunch. Clyde Silliman will be in charge.

The committee will meet again April 18 at 7:30 p. m. Ray Neidengard, chairman, presided.

Bill Proposes Hike In Rates For Legal Ads

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Costs of printing legal advertising have increased while the law fixing rates that newspapers must charge has remained unchanged since 1953, the Senate Taxation Committee has been advised.

The committee gave first hearing Wednesday night to a bill by Sen. Gordon Renner, R-Hamilton, which would increase rates one-third for publishing advertising, notices and proclamations which the law requires.

Under present law, the maximum rate for first insertion is $1.50 for each square (about an inch of small six-point type) and 75 cents for each additional insertion. The bill would raise these maximum rates to $2 and $1.

It also would permit the 18 Ohio newspapers with circulations between 15,000 and 25,000 to charge either the rate set by law for legal advertising or their general display advertising rate. At present, only the 19 papers with more than 25,000 circulation charge the display rate, and they have no choice by law.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I do to prevent the annoyance of stoppage in my kitchen drainpipe?

A. First of all, avoid letting any of your greases go down the drain. These build up in the pipe and congeal in time. It's a good idea always to run piping hot water down your drain for a few minutes after your dishwashings. Another good preventive is to give your drain the lye treatment every six months or so.

Q. What are the colors that seem to make a room look larger and the colors that make a room appear smaller?

A. Colors that seem to increase the size of a room are peach, pale pink, beige, yellow, or white. Colors that seem to shrink a room are hues of terra cotta, cocoa, rose, red, or elephant gray.

Q. How can I make my own liquid hair shampoo?

A. Shave a bar of good castile soap into one point of water, allow this to simmer over a fire until the soap is entirely dissolved.

Director Gets Mistaken Water Rate Complaints

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver said today some householders have called his office by mistake to complain about a 10-12 per cent rate increase announced Wednesday by the Board of Public Utilities.

The complaints should be directed to the city water department office or to the utilities board — comprised of W. O. Schneider, Francis Cloran and James Mullen —as the director's office has no jurisdiction over the water department, Copenhaver said.

The utilities board said the rate boost, effective April 1, will be reflected for the first time on bills mailed July 1.

Castro's Downfall And Free Elections Seen In 1½ Years

NEW YORK (AP)—The leader of two major Cuban exile groups pledges that the overthrow of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro will end firing squads and bring free elections within 18 months.

Jose Miro Cardona, 59, a lawyer who served six weeks as premier at the start of the Castro regime, Wednesday announced formation of a new "revolutionary council," with himself as coordinator-general.

The council consists of representatives of the Democratic Revolutionary Front, regarded as middle-of-the-road and favoring free enterprise, and the Revolutionary Movement of the People, considered left-wing but anti-Communist.

Cardona told a news conference the aim of the council is to "overthrow the Communist tyranny which enslaves the people of Cuba and to reestablish moral peace and harmony among all Cubans." He gave no date for any invasion of the island but said: "The arms which we have, and the arms which we will have, will become known when Castro feels their impact." Cardona also called for aid from all exiled Cubans, including other revolutionary groups, "from Canada to Patagonia."

In Havana, Castro termed Cardona's movement "a government of puppets," and said "Cuba must remain alert" against "a group of mercenaries."

Selections by three musical groups from East Liverpool High that participated in the district band contest featured a meeting of the ELHS Band and Orchestra Mothers Tuesday night in Memorial Auditorium.

The instrumentalists were introduced by Vincent L. Maola, director. Mrs. Earl Locke was program chairman.

The groups played selections that earned them superior ratings in the district contest. A trumpet quartet of Janet Eardley, David Wagoner, Robert McElhaney and James Baxter, and a clarinet quartet of Ron Jarvis, Judy Jones, Kay Wakefield and Tom Fannon, won superior ratings. Also participating in the program was a string sextet, Janet Eardley, Wayne Locke, Mary Lou Curren, Barbara Littell, Jane Wright and Paul Jarvis.

The state band contest is April 15 in Columbus. Twelve will attend from East Liverpool.

Maola announced that the annual band and orchestra concert will be held May 5 in the MA. He also reported that the summer practice session for the band will begin two weeks before the opening of school in the fall. The practice site will be the gridiron of East Junior High.

Mrs. Richard Curren, president, conducted business. She announced the group will sponsor a Tag Day April 1. The president named a nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers to be presented at the April meeting. Officers will be elected and installed in May.

The committee includes Mrs. Thomas Fannin, Mrs. Paul Bloor and Mrs. Clifford Conley. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Conley, Mrs. Richard Heidel and Mrs. Harold Lawton.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Donald Baxter. Next meeting is April 18.

The PTA endorsed a proposal by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin to establish a Columbiana County work camp for juvenile offenders.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I do to prevent the annoyance of stoppage in my kitchen drainpipe?

A. First of all, avoid letting any of your greases go down the drain. These build up in the pipe and congeal in time. It's a good idea always to run piping hot water down your drain for a few minutes after your dishwashings. Another good preventive is to give your drain the lye treatment every six months or so.

Q. What are the colors that seem to make a room look larger and the colors that make a room appear smaller?

A. Colors that seem to increase the size of a room are peach, pale pink, beige, yellow, or white. Colors that seem to shrink a room are hues of terra cotta, cocoa, rose, red, or elephant gray.

Q. How can I make my own liquid hair shampoo?

A. Shave a bar of good castile soap into one point of water, allow this to simmer over a fire until the soap is entirely dissolved.

Surpluses

Charles S. Murphy will talk at the third in Atlanta Monday.

Briefly, the law works this way:

In order to get the new, higher price supports on corn and sorghums, farmers must cut their acreages for those grains at least 20 per cent.

In return, they would be eligible for the support price for half the average crop they would have produced on the retired land.

They can further reduce their corn and sorghum acreage up to a total of 40 per cent, and get a slightly higher payment for the second 20 per cent of land they retire. The retired land must be planted to conservation crops.

But what about the farmer who stays out of the plan, not reducing his acreage at all? He might hope to cash in on a high market price at the end of the year.

In order to prevent this, and encourage farmers to comply, the secretary is authorized to sell some government grain in the open market, thus driving down the market price to some extent. This is supposed to make it a rather unattractive prospect for a farmer to stay out of the plan and take a chance on the market price.

Spies

Cohens-Krogers traveled around the world — to Canada, Tokyo, Singapore, Vienna, London, New Zealand and possibly back and forth through the iron curtain—without being suspected.

They showed up in England in 1954 with New Zealand passports. Forged Canadian passports were also found in their home near a U.S. air base.

New Zealand Prime Minister Keith Holyoake has ordered an investigation of how they obtained New Zealand passports. Canada is investigating how the forged Canadian passports carried the actual dates and numbers of other passports issued to two Canadians who have been cleared of any connection with the case.

The two Britons who stole the naval secrets from the research station where they worked and gave them to Lonsdale—Harry F. Houghton, 55, and his mistress, Ethel Gee, 46—each got 15 year sentences. Houghton claimed he was forced into spying by threats, and Miss Gee testified she was misled and got involved through her love for Houghton. The judge said money was her aim.

On Feb. 25, 1933, the USS Ranger, first aircraft carrier wholly designed and built as such, was commissioned at Norfolk, Va.

Surpluses

Charles S. Murphy will talk at the third in Atlanta Monday.

Briefly, the law works this way:

In order to get the new, higher price supports on corn and sorghums, farmers must cut their acreages for those grains at least 20 per cent.

In return, they would be eligible for the support price for half the average crop they would have produced on the retired land.

They can further reduce their corn and sorghum acreage up to a total of 40 per cent, and get a slightly higher payment for the second 20 per cent of land they retire. The retired land must be planted to conservation crops.

But what about the farmer who stays out of the plan, not reducing his acreage at all? He might hope to cash in on a high market price at the end of the year.

In order to prevent this, and encourage farmers to comply, the secretary is authorized to sell some government grain in the open market, thus driving down the market price to some extent. This is supposed to make it a rather unattractive prospect for a farmer to stay out of the plan and take a chance on the market price.

Spies

Cohens-Krogers traveled around the world — to Canada, Tokyo, Singapore, Vienna, London, New Zealand and possibly back and forth through the iron curtain—without being suspected.

They showed up in England in 1954 with New Zealand passports. Forged Canadian passports were also found in their home near a U.S. air base.

New Zealand Prime Minister Keith Holyoake has ordered an investigation of how they obtained New Zealand passports. Canada is investigating how the forged Canadian passports carried the actual dates and numbers of other passports issued to two Canadians who have been cleared of any connection with the case.

The two Britons who stole the naval secrets from the research station where they worked and gave them to Lonsdale—Harry F. Houghton, 55, and his mistress, Ethel Gee, 46—each got 15 year sentences. Houghton claimed he was forced into spying by threats, and Miss Gee testified she was misled and got involved through her love for Houghton. The judge said money was her aim.

On Feb. 25, 1933, the USS Ranger, first aircraft carrier wholly designed and built as such, was commissioned at Norfolk, Va.

Dayton Carries Ohio's Hopes In NIT Semi-Finals Tonight

Flyers Battle St. Louis; Providence Vs. Crusaders

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Dayton matches its height and scoring touch against St. Louis' rugged defense while Holy Cross and Providence collide in the semifinals of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament tonight.

The opener pits Dayton against St. Louis. Holy Cross and Providence meet in the Madison Square Garden windup. The two winners will meet for the title Saturday following the third place playoff between the losers.

Dayton, the only survivor of the four seeded teams in the 12-team field, was lucky to get past Temple's small, pesky quintet in the quarter-finals Tuesday night. The Flyers, towering over their opponents from Philadelphia, overcame an 11-point deficit in the second half and won out 62-60.

The Flyers won't have as big a height advantage over St. Louis. The Billikens stress possession and defense and could make things real tough for the seeded Ohioans. St. Louis, led by Gordon Hartweger and Bill Nordmann, eliminated Miami (Fla.) 58-56 and seeded Colorado State U., 59-53.

This is the eighth NIT for Dayton. The Flyers have finished second five times but never have won. St. Louis, in its 10th NIT, copped the title in 1948.

Providence, paced by 5-11 John Egan and 6-10 Jim Hadnot, whipped DePaul 73-67 and seeded Niagara, 71-68. Holy Cross, led by 6-5 Jack Foley, beat Detroit 86-82 and seeded Memphis State 81-69.

In their only meeting this season, the Crusaders, playing at home March 4, topped Providence 77-72.

THE ARGUMENTS are already underway as Detroit manager Bob Scheffing complains to home plate umpire Joe Paparella over a close call at home in the third inning of Wednesday's game with the Phillies. Needless to say Scheffing lost. (UPI Telephoto)

'Bulldog' Jackson Named Grid Coach At Rossford

Don "Bulldog" Jackson, stellar center on the undefeated 1945 football team at East Liverpool, has been named head football coach at Rossford High School, a Class AA school located near Toledo.

Jackson served as assistant coach at Rossford for four years. He was given a one-year contract. Jackson had applied for the head coaching job at East Liverpool.

The 31-year-old former Potter football and basketball standout has 10 lettermen returning from the 1960 Rossford team which compiled a 4-6 record.

Rossford is a member of the Northern Lakes League.

Jackson moved to Rossford after graduating from Purdue University in 1957. He played three years of varsity football at Purdue, performing at guard and tackle.

While at Purdue, he coached the freshman football team.

Jackson graduated from East Liverpool in 1947. He was a regular for two years on the football squad and played on the 1946 basketball team which gained the state semi-finals and was a starter on the 1947 squad which was state tourney runnerup.

Cage Scandal Hearing Set For April 4

NEW YORK (AP) — District Attorney Frank S. Hogan of Manhattan has no idea how long the current probe into college basketball fixing will continue, or how many players might be involved.

"There may or may not be more," Hogan said Wednesday in announcing at a press conference that evidence would be presented to a grand jury starting April 4.

Two gamblers were arrested last Friday by investigators from his office on charges of bribing two Seton Hall University players and one from the University of Connecticut.

Hogan called the press conference after returning from Arizona where he has been attending a prosecutors' convention.

During his absence his office indicated other colleges may have been implicated, but Hogan declined to give additional information.

Browns Change Hands; Paul Remains As Coach

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns have changed hands again, but the old master who has been the field general since the professional football club was organized in 1946—Coach Paul Brown—still is running the team.

Arthur B. Modell of New York, 36-year-old television and advertising executive who is the top executive in the new organization, and R. J. (Rudy) Schaefer, 60, New York brewery company president, have agreed wholeheartedly to give Brown free rein. They also gave him an eight-year contract.

"I retain control over those things I consider essential to the operation of the team," Brown said at a news conference Wednesday.

Modell, who became chairman of the board and chief executive officer, said reports that about $4 million was involved in the transaction were substantially correct.

Brown remains as general manager and vice president of the National Football League club. Modell said Brown will decide any questions about player personnel and field operation.

"I am assuming the responsibility for such things as finances, admissions to the league, promotion and that type of thing," Modell said.

Brown, who retains a small amount of stock, has an option to buy more.

The new Browns organization also will have these officers:

Dave R. Jones continues as president and Robert H. Gries continues as vice president and treasurer—each having a substantial minority interest in the club; Schaefer will be a vice president; William C. MacMillan, an investment banker, and John A. Wells, Modell's attorney, also have been named directors.

"Are the plays still going to be run in from the bench?" asked a reporter.

Modell replied, "As far as I'm concerned Paul Brown can send them in by carrier pigeon."

Brown described Modell as "a man with ideas (who) should be good for our organization as well as the entire league."

Utah Rolls Into NCAA Tournament As Heavy Underdog, But Watch Out

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Jack Gardner, a hard and persistent campaigner for basketball championships, has hopes this is the year his University of Utah Redskins will win the National Collegiate crown.

Utah, ranked 11th nationally on a 23-6 record, will oppose the No. 2 Cincinnati Bearcats (25-3) in the semifinals of the NCAA tournament Friday night.

The top-ranked, undefeated Ohio State Buckeyes (26-0) and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia (24-4) tangle in the semifinal opener. The championship will be decided Saturday night.

"We've had what appeared to be stronger clubs at the start of the season," Gardner said, "but these kids have worked harder and better as a unit and have shown more desire and improvement than any team I've coached."

This is Gardner's fifth NCAA tournament team in eight seasons at Utah. None of the other four entries got past the second round.

The Utah chief says it's only right his team should be the underdog against Cincinnati—the Bearcats have been installed as 6-point favorites—but adds:

"Maybe we are lucky to be here, but you never can tell what will happen in a tournament such as this."

Ohio State, which features the marvelous All - America Jerry Lucas, is a clear-cut favorite to win its second straight title. The Buckeyes are favored by 14 points over St. Joseph's Hawks.

Gardner rates his Billy (The Hill) McGill as one of the greatest, if not the greatest offensive player he has ever seen. The 6-9 junior has the highest scoring averages—27.7 for 29 games — of any player in the tournament.

With Hill and Rick Ruffell each averaging 50 per cent of their field shots, Utah has a 49 per cent shooting average. Of the semi-finalists, only Ohio State has shot better and only by a fraction—.492 to .490.

Utah will boast a slim, half-inch average height edge—6-3½ to 6-3—over Cincinnati, which will be making its fourth successive bid for the championship — something it failed to win the past three tournaments with the great Oscar Robertson.

Each of the coaches—Ed Jucker of Cincinnati, Fred Taylor of Ohio State, John Ramsey of St. Joseph's and Gardner—has pronounced his squad physically sound.

French Boxer Looking For Title Match

NEW YORK (AP) — France's Marcel Pigou takes on Cuba's Florentino Fernandez Saturday night at Madison Square Garden in a fight that could be more dangerous than a fight with a champion.

Therefore he feels that if he wins he must get a shot at one of the two coholders of the middleweight title. If not, back to France he will go.

"Fernandez is just as hungry as I am to win," said Marcel today. "He also is a very hard hitter. It will be a very dangerous fight and the winner should get a chance at the title.

"If I win and do not get my chance I will go back to France and I will not return except for a championship fight," he added.

Pigou is a busy fighter with a powerful right hand. He is unbeaten in his last seven fights and has a 34-3-3 won-lost-draw record including 18 knockouts.

Fernandez, a bull-necked Cuban with a devastating left hook, has a 29-2 record including 23 knockouts.

The 10-rounder will be televised nationally (10 p.m., EST, ABC).

Shares Honors With Martins Ferry Star

Cunningham Is Co-Captain Of All-Eastern Cage Team

All-Ohio Ken Cunningham of East Liverpool and Martins Ferry High's Jim Brown headed a list of 11 players named today to the All-Eastern Ohio Class AA basketball team.

Cunningham, "player of the year" in Ohio, and Brown, also a top-notch golfer, were named co-captains of the squad by virtue of polling the most votes.

The star-studded squad was selected by varsity coaches in the Ohio Valley from East Liverpool south to Shadyside. The sponsor was the Martins Ferry Times Leader.

Cunningham and Brown were named to guard spots. Three others selected as All-Eastern Ohio guards were Tom Eroshevic of Steubenville Central Catholic, Gary Copeland of Shadyside and Bernie Walker of Bellaire.

The forwards are Wellsville High's Bob Kiggans, second highest scorer in the school's history and an All-Ohio honorable mention, Bill Lude of Martins Ferry, Glenn Dickinson of Jefferson Union and Don Raper of River Local.

The centers are Henderson (Boots) Edwards of Bellaire and Perry Polinsky of Shadyside.

Area cagers receiving "particular honorable mention" are Phil Baldwin and Roger Ours of Wellsville, Perry Hurst and Ken Miller of East Liverpool, and Max Sherwood of Toronto.

Four Toronto cagers, John Trudicks, Frank Spreainde, Tom Coulter, and Tom Wilson won spots on the "honorable mention" list.

Utah Rolls Into NCAA Tournament As Heavy Underdog, But Watch Out

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Jack Gardner, a hard and persistent campaigner for basketball championships, has hopes this is the year his University of Utah Redskins will win the National Collegiate crown.

Utah, ranked 11th nationally on a 23-6 record, will oppose the No. 2 Cincinnati Bearcats (25-3) in the semifinals of the NCAA tournament Friday night.

The top-ranked, undefeated Ohio State Buckeyes (26-0) and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia (24-4) tangle in the semifinal opener. The championship will be decided Saturday night.

"We've had what appeared to be stronger clubs at the start of the season," Gardner said, "but these kids have worked harder and better as a unit and have shown more desire and improvement than any team I've coached."

This is Gardner's fifth NCAA tournament team in eight seasons at Utah. None of the other four entries got past the second round.

The Utah chief says it's only right his team should be the underdog against Cincinnati—the Bearcats have been installed as 6-point favorites—but adds:

"Maybe we are lucky to be here, but you never can tell what will happen in a tournament such as this."

Ohio State, which features the marvelous All - America Jerry Lucas, is a clear-cut favorite to win its second straight title. The Buckeyes are favored by 14 points over St. Joseph's Hawks.

Gardner rates his Billy (The Hill) McGill as one of the greatest, if not the greatest offensive player he has ever seen. The 6-9 junior has the highest scoring averages—27.7 for 29 games — of any player in the tournament.

With Hill and Rick Ruffell each averaging 50 per cent of their field shots, Utah has a 49 per cent shooting average. Of the semi-finalists, only Ohio State has shot better and only by a fraction—.492 to .490.

Utah will boast a slim, half-inch average height edge—6-3½ to 6-3—over Cincinnati, which will be making its fourth successive bid for the championship — something it failed to win the past three tournaments with the great Oscar Robertson.

Each of the coaches—Ed Jucker of Cincinnati, Fred Taylor of Ohio State, John Ramsey of St. Joseph's and Gardner—has pronounced his squad physically sound.

French Boxer Looking For Title Match

NEW YORK (AP) — France's Marcel Pigou takes on Cuba's Florentino Fernandez Saturday night at Madison Square Garden in a fight that could be more dangerous than a fight with a champion.

Therefore he feels that if he wins he must get a shot at one of the two coholders of the middleweight title. If not, back to France he will go.

"Fernandez is just as hungry as I am to win," said Marcel today. "He also is a very hard hitter. It will be a very dangerous fight and the winner should get a chance at the title.

"If I win and do not get my chance I will go back to France and I will not return except for a championship fight," he added.

Pigou is a busy fighter with a powerful right hand. He is unbeaten in his last seven fights and has a 34-3-3 won-lost-draw record including 18 knockouts.

Fernandez, a bull-necked Cuban with a devastating left hook, has a 29-2 record including 23 knockouts.

The 10-rounder will be televised nationally (10 p.m., EST, ABC).

Cunningham Is Co-Captain Of All-Eastern Cage Team

All-Ohio Ken Cunningham of East Liverpool and Martins Ferry High's Jim Brown headed a list of 11 players named today to the All-Eastern Ohio Class AA basketball team.

Cunningham, "player of the year" in Ohio, and Brown, also a top-notch golfer, were named co-captains of the squad by virtue of polling the most votes.

The star-studded squad was selected by varsity coaches in the Ohio Valley from East Liverpool south to Shadyside. The sponsor was the Martins Ferry Times Leader.

Cunningham and Brown were named to guard spots. Three others selected as All-Eastern Ohio guards were Tom Eroshevic of Steubenville Central Catholic, Gary Copeland of Shadyside and Bernie Walker of Bellaire.

The forwards are Wellsville High's Bob Kiggans, second highest scorer in the school's history and an All-Ohio honorable mention, Bill Lude of Martins Ferry, Glenn Dickinson of Jefferson Union and Don Raper of River Local.

The centers are Henderson (Boots) Edwards of Bellaire and Perry Polinsky of Shadyside.

Area cagers receiving "particular honorable mention" are Phil Baldwin and Roger Ours of Wellsville, Perry Hurst and Ken Miller of East Liverpool, and Max Sherwood of Toronto.

Four Toronto cagers, John Trudicks, Frank Spreainde, Tom Coulter, and Tom Wilson won spots on the "honorable mention" list.

'Bulldog' Jackson Named Grid Coach At Rossford

Don "Bulldog" Jackson, stellar center on the undefeated 1945 football team at East Liverpool, has been named head football coach at Rossford High School, a Class AA school located near Toledo.

Jackson served as assistant coach at Rossford for four years. He was given a one-year contract. Jackson had applied for the head coaching job at East Liverpool.

The 31-year-old former Potter football and basketball standout has 10 lettermen returning from the 1960 Rossford team which compiled a 4-6 record.

Rossford is a member of the Northern Lakes League.

Jackson moved to Rossford after graduating from Purdue University in 1957. He played three years of varsity football at Purdue, performing at guard and tackle.

While at Purdue, he coached the freshman football team.

Jackson graduated from East Liverpool in 1947. He was a regular for two years on the football squad and played on the 1946 basketball team which gained the state semi-finals and was a starter on the 1947 squad which was state tourney runnerup.

Jackson's predecessor at Rossford left to take a coaching position at Defiance High School.

Cage Scandal Hearing Set For April 4

NEW YORK (AP) — District Attorney Frank S. Hogan of Manhattan has no idea how long the current probe into college basketball fixing will continue, or how many players might be involved.

"There may or may not be more," Hogan said Wednesday in announcing at a press conference that evidence would be presented to a grand jury starting April 4.

Two gamblers were arrested last Friday by investigators from his office on charges of bribing two Seton Hall University players and one from the University of Connecticut.

Hogan called the press conference after returning from Arizona where he has been attending a prosecutors' convention.

During his absence his office indicated other colleges may have been implicated, but Hogan declined to give additional information.

Gene Leek Hitting .441 With Los Angeles Club

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gene Leek, remembered as the collegian who precipitated a war of words when the Cleveland Indians signed him off the campus, is hitting .441 for the new Los Angeles Angels.

The San Diego native continued his torrid spring swinging with a three-run homer that beat the San Francisco Giants 5-3 Wednesday and gave the Angels their first preseason triumph over a team of major league veterans. They previously had won three games against B squads.

Manager Bill Rigney's problem is where to play the versatile Leek, 23, who was holding down third base for the University of Arizona when the Indians grabbed him. That started the verbal battle between college coaches and major league officials that culminated in a rule prohibiting such signings.

Baltimore's streaking Orioles won their fifth in succession after six opening losses by beating Cincinnati 9-4, and the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates brought their record to 10-3 with a 10-1 win over the Chicago White Sox.

In other games, Philadelphia whipped Detroit 7-1 the Chicago Cubs nipped Cleveland 2-1, New York outslugged Milwaukee 14-11, St. Louis defeated Kansas City 5-3 the Los Angeles Dodgers edged Minnesota 3-2 and the Twins' B squad walloped Washington 11-3.

Leek's 415-foot circuit shot was the key blow as the Angels scored all their runs off Giants' starter Juan Marichal in the fifth inning. Ken McBride went six innings for Los Angeles, allowing only four hits, and Tex Clevenger finished up with a three-hit performance.

The Pirates, first team to win 10 games, jumped on White Sox starter Early Wynn for seven runs in the first and coasted behind pitching ace Bob Friend. Friend scattered five hits in a seven-inning outing, walking only one and striking out four.

Robin Roberts, Frank Sullivan and Art Mahaffey stopped the Tigers on six hits for the Phils and received home run support from Pancho Herrera and John Callison.

Mickey Mantle knocked in six runs with two homers, a double and single and Bill Skowron added three with a homer and two singles as the Yanks beat the Braves.

Junior Gilliam's ninth inning pinch single with the bases loaded won it for the Dodgers, who got three innings of no-hit relief from Larry Sherry against the Twins.

St. Louis Evens Series With LA; Celts Face Nats

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks and the Los Angeles Lakers, perennial foes in this business of pro basketball playoffs, seem headed for a repeat of last year's seven-game series.

The Hawks evened up the National Basketball Association's Western Division playoffs at one game apiece Wednesday night with a 121-106 decision over the Lakers.

The Eastern Division playoffs between the Syracuse Nationals and the Boston Celtics are tied up at 1-1, also. The two Eastern clubs had a day off Wednesday, but get back to the boards tonight in Boston. The Hawks and Lakers pick up where they left off Friday night in Los Angeles.

A year ago the Hawks took the deciding game of the Western playoffs from Los Angeles. Only to bow to Boston in the finals, again in seven games. The Hawks and Lakers have battled the last four seasons to decide which one takes on the Eastern kingpins.

Set On Reserves Too

Dykes Decided On Lineup With Opener 3 Weeks Away

CLEVELAND (AP)—With Opening Day nearly three weeks away, Cleveland Indians manager Jimmie Dykes not only has decided on his starting lineup, but just about knows who his reserves will be as well.

Behind the first line infield of Vic Power, Johnny Temple, Woodie Held and Bubba Phillips, apparently, it will be Mike de la Hoz, Joe Morgan and Jack Kubiszyn.

In the outfield the first line will be Willie Kirkland, Jim Piersall and Tito Francona, with Walter Bond and Don Dillard on the bench.

To back up catcher John Romano, Dykes probably will keep Valmy Thomas—unless he can get a better man in a trade.

With the exception of a few positions on the pitching staff, the Indians apparently are all but set.

Thus, Dykes has spent little time watching the young rookies who came to camp. Of five rookies cut from the squad who leave today for the minor league training base at Daytona Beach, Fla., only one has appeared in an exhibition game with the Tribe.

Eight more cuts were to be announced today, and among them are expected to be three more rookies who haven't seen Grapefruit League action.

John Antonelli pitched the first six innings of Wednesday's 2-1 loss to the Chicago Cubs and continued to look good. He gave up six hits, but the Cubs didn't score until the sixth inning.

Gary Bell finished, and the Cubs won with an unearned run in the ninth. Although Bell didn't look as fast as he did Saturday in his first start, he gave up only three hits.

Two young Cub hurlers held the Indians to five hits, and the single Cleveland run was unearned.

Here's Data On Ohio's Eight Tournament Qualifiers

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — This and that about the eight teams which battle it out Friday and Saturday for Ohio's high school basketball championships:

Class A

Proctorville Fairland of Lawrence County holds one of the state tournament records. Back in 1924 Proctorville met Dayton Fairview in the opening round and scored a grand total of two (2) points, G. Ellis getting a field goal. Fairview was an 18-2 victor — and Proctorville's pair of points make up the lowest scoring total in tourney history. Two years later Proctorville was in again, but lost 29-19 to Granville. This year's 25-0 record indicates Fairland will better its 10-point average for the first two tries.

Ayersville, winner in 1957 in coach of the year Lee Himmeger's first season, is back with a 28-0 record and the No. 1 rating in the final Associated Press poll. The Pilots meet Fairland in Friday's opener at 1:30 p.m., and one of the unbeatens must get out of the way.

Youngstown Liberty, a Class AA school the last three years, is making its first bid for the laurels with a 26-1 record that includes several wins over double-A teams.

Madison South, consolidated school located about six miles from London, also made it for the first time with a 23-2 mark, poorest of the four Class A contenders. Liberty and South meet at 3:15 p.m. Friday.

Class AA

Cleveland East Tech, rated second in the final AP poll, was champion in 1958 and 1959, and runner-up to Dayton Roosevelt last year. Joe Howell is in his second year as coach, and he lost three of his starters via midseason graduation. Tech has a 21-2 record.

Urbana, East Tech's foe at 7:30 p.m. Friday, is in the midst of Ohio's best athletic record. The Hillclimbers, making their first appearance in the big cage classic, have piled 24 straight basketball victories on top of 10 football conquests in a row.

Elyria's coach, Dale Reichenbach, is after an unusual double. Just 10 years ago he coached Grand Rapids to the Class A title with a 52-51 win over Waynesburg, and his Pioneers are just two victories away from the Class AA crown. Elyria's last venture into the state meet, in 1936, resulted in a 24-23 loss to Findlay.

Portsmouth's Trojans are in the state playoffs for the ninth time, and they won the state title in 1931. Coach George Heller captained the 1939 Trojan team and scored five points as Portsmouth lost 45-32 to Dayton Fairview—the same school which in 1924 held Proctorville to two points. Portsmouth was in the state meet in 1925, 1926, 1927, 1929, 1931, 1934, 1939 and 1941. The tall Trojans with a 20-3 record are favored over Elyria (20-5) in Friday's 9:15 p.m. contest.

Yale Tennis Star Dies From Auto Injuries

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Sidney B. Wood III, 22-year-old Yale tennis star and son of a former international tennis player, died early Wednesday from injuries suffered in an automobile accident five days ago.

Wood and two other members of the Yale team were en route to Miami, Fla., for spring vacation when their compact station wagon crashed over an embankment two miles north of here.

T. Craig Joyner of Lajolla, Calif., the team captains, was killed in the crash. Stewart B. Ludlum Jr., 21, of Bronxville, N. Y., one of the first six players of the team and a Yale basketball star, was injured.

Robinson's Bat Is Blazing After Brush With Law

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Last year it took a punch in the eye from Eddie Mathews to get slugger Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Reds going in top form. This year it looks as though a brief brush with the law may do the trick.

Robinson returned to Florida early this week after a Monday appearance in court at Cincinnati on a concealed weapons charge. He went to bat against the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday and slammed a 400-foot-plus homer in the eighth inning, bringing home roommate Vada Pinson and raising his Grapefruit League home run count to four.

The Reds lost, 9-4.

Eddie Kasko knocked in two runs with a single in the ninth, but it was too late to save the day. The loss was charged to Jay Hook who gave up nine hits in five innings and was replaced by Marshall Bridges and Johnny Briggs. The Orioles got 13 hits, including home runs by Jim Gentile and Chuck Essegian.

Wittenberg Star Lands On Little All-American

NEW YORK (AP) — Two 6-7 stringbeans, George Fisher of Wittenberg's NCAA small college champions and Charles Hardnett of Grambling's NAIA champions, top the 1961 college basketball Little All-America announced today by The Associated Press.

Also named to the first team, selected on the basis of votes from nearly 100 sportswriters and radio-TV broadcasters, were Don Jacobsen of South Dakota State, Tom (Skip) Chappelle of Maine and Bob Mahland of Williams.

Ron Galbreath of Westminster (Pa.), Stan Kernan of McNeese, Zelmo Beaty of Prairie View, Carl Ritter of Southeast Missouri and John O'Reilly of Mt. St. Mary's were picked as a second team.

Rounding out a 15-man squad, Wayne Monson of Northern Michigan, Dick Vories of Georgetown (Ky.), Porter Meriwether of Tennessee State, Marvin Bachmeier of North Dakota State and Carl Short of Newberry were named as a third team.

These 15 each will receive a certificate from The Associated Press.

Fisher, a bespectacled senior from Newcastle, Ind., was the key man in Wittenberg's sweep to the NCAA small college title.

Hardnett, a junior from Atlanta, was named the most valuable player in the NAIA tourney as the Grambling Tigers from Louisiana won their national honor.

Jacobsen, a 6-2 senior from Lake Norden, S.D., led South Dakota State to third place in the NCAA small college tourney.

Mahland, a 6-2 junior from Garden, City, N.Y. sparked Williams to its best basketball season ever. The Ephmen reached the NCAA national quarter-finals by beating Rochester and Bates.

Chappelle, at 6-0 the smallest of the first team, was the leading scorer in the Yankee Conference. The junior from Old Town, Maine, led Maine to a second place conference finish.

National Leaguers hit a total of 25 grand-slam home-runs in 1960, an increase of two over the 1959 season.

To back up catcher John Romano, Dykes probably will keep Valmy Thomas—unless he can get a better man in a trade.

With the exception of a few positions on the pitching staff, the Indians apparently are all but set.

Thus, Dykes has spent little time watching the young rookies who came to camp. Of five rookies cut from the squad who leave today for the minor league training base at Daytona Beach, Fla., only one has appeared in an exhibition game with the Tribe.

Eight more cuts were to be announced today, and among them are expected to be three more rookies who haven't seen Grapefruit League action.

John Antonelli pitched the first six innings of Wednesday's 2-1 loss to the Chicago Cubs and continued to look good. He gave up six hits, but the Cubs didn't score until the sixth inning.

Gary Bell finished, and the Cubs won with an unearned run in the ninth. Although Bell didn't look as fast as he did Saturday in his first start, he gave up only three hits.

Two young Cub hurlers held the Indians to five hits, and the single Cleveland run was unearned.

Here's Data On Ohio's Eight Tournament Qualifiers

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — This and that about the eight teams which battle it out Friday and Saturday for Ohio's high school basketball championships:

Class A

Proctorville Fairland of Lawrence County holds one of the state tournament records. Back in 1924 Proctorville met Dayton Fairview in the opening round and scored a grand total of two (2) points, G. Ellis getting a field goal. Fairview was an 18-2 victor — and Proctorville's pair of points make up the lowest scoring total in tourney history. Two years later Proctorville was in again, but lost 29-19 to Granville. This year's 25-0 record indicates Fairland will better its 10-point average for the first two tries.

Ayersville, winner in 1957 in coach of the year Lee Himmeger's first season, is back with a 28-0 record and the No. 1 rating in the final Associated Press poll. The Pilots meet Fairland in Friday's opener at 1:30 p.m., and one of the unbeatens must get out of the way.

Youngstown Liberty, a Class AA school the last three years, is making its first bid for the laurels with a 26-1 record that includes several wins over double-A teams.

Madison South, consolidated school located about six miles from London, also made it for the first time with a 23-2 mark, poorest of the four Class A contenders. Liberty and South meet at 3:15 p.m. Friday.

Class AA

Cleveland East Tech, rated second in the final AP poll, was champion in 1958 and 1959, and runner-up to Dayton Roosevelt last year. Joe Howell is in his second year as coach, and he lost three of his starters via midseason graduation. Tech has a 21-2 record.

Urbana, East Tech's foe at 7:30 p.m. Friday, is in the midst of Ohio's best athletic record. The Hillclimbers, making their first appearance in the big cage classic, have piled 24 straight basketball victories on top of 10 football conquests in a row.

Elyria's coach, Dale Reichenbach, is after an unusual double. Just 10 years ago he coached Grand Rapids to the Class A title with a 52-51 win over Waynesburg, and his Pioneers are just two victories away from the Class AA crown. Elyria's last venture into the state meet, in 1936, resulted in a 24-23 loss to Findlay.

Portsmouth's Trojans are in the state playoffs for the ninth time, and they won the state title in 1931. Coach George Heller captained the 1939 Trojan team and scored five points as Portsmouth lost 45-32 to Dayton Fairview—the same school which in 1924 held Proctorville to two points. Portsmouth was in the state meet in 1925, 1926, 1927, 1929, 1931, 1934, 1939 and 1941. The tall Trojans with a 20-3 record are favored over Elyria (20-5) in Friday's 9:15 p.m. contest.

Yale Tennis Star Dies From Auto Injuries

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Sidney B. Wood III, 22-year-old Yale tennis star and son of a former international tennis player, died early Wednesday from injuries suffered in an automobile accident five days ago.

Wood and two other members of the Yale team were en route to Miami, Fla., for spring vacation when their compact station wagon crashed over an embankment two miles north of here.

T. Craig Joyner of Lajolla, Calif., the team captains, was killed in the crash. Stewart B. Ludlum Jr., 21, of Bronxville, N. Y., one of the first six players of the team and a Yale basketball star, was injured.

Robinson's Bat Is Blazing After Brush With Law

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Last year it took a punch in the eye from Eddie Mathews to get slugger Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Reds going in top form. This year it looks as though a brief brush with the law may do the trick.

Robinson returned to Florida early this week after a Monday appearance in court at Cincinnati on a concealed weapons charge. He went to bat against the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday and slammed a 400-foot-plus homer in the eighth inning, bringing home roommate Vada Pinson and raising his Grapefruit League home run count to four.

The Reds lost, 9-4.

Eddie Kasko knocked in two runs with a single in the ninth, but it was too late to save the day. The loss was charged to Jay Hook who gave up nine hits in five innings and was replaced by Marshall Bridges and Johnny Briggs. The Orioles got 13 hits, including home runs by Jim Gentile and Chuck Essegian.

Wittenberg Star Lands On Little All-American

NEW YORK (AP) — Two 6-7 stringbeans, George Fisher of Wittenberg's NCAA small college champions and Charles Hardnett of Grambling's NAIA champions, top the 1961 college basketball Little All-America announced today by The Associated Press.

Also named to the first team, selected on the basis of votes from nearly 100 sportswriters and radio-TV broadcasters, were Don Jacobsen of South Dakota State, Tom (Skip) Chappelle of Maine and Bob Mahland of Williams.

Ron Galbreath of Westminster (Pa.), Stan Kernan of McNeese, Zelmo Beaty of Prairie View, Carl Ritter of Southeast Missouri and John O'Reilly of Mt. St. Mary's were picked as a second team.

Rounding out a 15-man squad, Wayne Monson of Northern Michigan, Dick Vories of Georgetown (Ky.), Porter Meriwether of Tennessee State, Marvin Bachmeier of North Dakota State and Carl Short of Newberry were named as a third team.

These 15 each will receive a certificate from The Associated Press.

Fisher, a bespectacled senior from Newcastle, Ind., was the key man in Wittenberg's sweep to the NCAA small college title.

Hardnett, a junior from Atlanta, was named the most valuable player in the NAIA tourney as the Grambling Tigers from Louisiana won their national honor.

Jacobsen, a 6-2 senior from Lake Norden, S.D., led South Dakota State to third place in the NCAA small college tourney.

Mahland, a 6-2 junior from Garden, City, N.Y. sparked Williams to its best basketball season ever. The Ephmen reached the NCAA national quarter-finals by beating Rochester and Bates.

Chappelle, at 6-0 the smallest of the first team, was the leading scorer in the Yankee Conference. The junior from Old Town, Maine, led Maine to a second place conference finish.

National Leaguers hit a total of 25 grand-slam home-runs in 1960, an increase of two over the 1959 season.

Sargus' Bills Help Set Record For Assembly

The Review Correspondent

COLUMBUS — State Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-St. Clairsville, co-sponsored three bills Wednesday as the number introduced in the General Assembly passed the record of two years ago.

All of Sargus' measures are sought by Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy to protect the state's interest in unclaimed property of Ohioans.

One applies to such property held in other states and one concerns property held by the federal government. In both cases, the attorney general would be allowed to claim the property for the state's general fund if the owner could not be located.

The third bill would allow the state to claim undistributed assets of corporations found guilty of fraud. First claim on the firm's assets would go to persons defrauded.

Liquor Board Studies 3 County Permit Bids

The State Liquor Control Board at Columbus said today it is processing three applications for new Columbiana County permits — two in the New Waterford area and another in Madison Township.

Norman Reynolds Lisbon R. D. 2, Madison Township, seeks a D-1 permit, authorizing sale of 3.2 beer for on - premises consumption and carry - out, the board said.

Mike V. Mercure of New Waterford has filed for a D-5 permit—a night club license for sale of beer, wine and liquor until 2:30 a. m. Donald and Effie Muir seek a C-2 permit for an establishment at Beard Rd. and Route 14 near New Waterford. A C-2 permit authorizes carry-out sale of high-powered beer and wine.

Tear Gas Blast Fails To Halt Bank Business

WEIRTON (AP) — An unexpected blast of tear gas chased customers and employes alike from the Bank of Weirton Wednesday but business went on just as usual.

The gas was released when the burglar alarm system was accidentally tripped by workmen inspecting the system.

It took about three hours to disperse the fumes. During that time, employes met customers at the door and transacted business there.

Sargus' Bills Help Set Record For Assembly

The Review Correspondent

COLUMBUS — State Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-St. Clairsville, co-sponsored three bills Wednesday as the number introduced in the General Assembly passed the record of two years ago.

All of Sargus' measures are sought by Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy to protect the state's interest in unclaimed property of Ohioans.

One applies to such property held in other states and one concerns property held by the federal government. In both cases, the attorney general would be allowed to claim the property for the state's general fund if the owner could not be located.

The third bill would allow the state to claim undistributed assets of corporations found guilty of fraud. First claim on the firm's assets would go to persons defrauded.

Liquor Board Studies 3 County Permit Bids

The State Liquor Control Board at Columbus said today it is processing three applications for new Columbiana County permits — two in the New Waterford area and another in Madison Township.

Norman Reynolds Lisbon R. D. 2, Madison Township, seeks a D-1 permit, authorizing sale of 3.2 beer for on - premises consumption and carry - out, the board said.

Mike V. Mercure of New Waterford has filed for a D-5 permit—a night club license for sale of beer, wine and liquor until 2:30 a. m. Donald and Effie Muir seek a C-2 permit for an establishment at Beard Rd. and Route 14 near New Waterford. A C-2 permit authorizes carry-out sale of high-powered beer and wine.

Sees Value Of School Tax Dollar

School Bond, Levy Beaten But Then Passed In Parma

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

PARMA, Ohio (AP) — The $3-million school bond issue and the two-mill school levy on the Parma ballot last May didn't create much of a stir.

Why should they? In eight previous elections, the city had approved school bonds for $23 million and school levies totaling 13 cents on every $100 of assessed valuation.

In Ohio, school bonds and levies need only a bare majority of the votes cast, 50 per cent plus one. Parma voters had always backed their schools with majorities ranging from 61 per cent to 89.9 per cent.

Besides, the voters had been told, with so much new property coming on to the tax rolls, the bond issue wouldn't raise taxes at all. The two-mill levy would increase taxes on the average home by $13 a year—less than the cost of a pack of cigarettes a week.

The weekly newspaper, the Chamber of Commerce, the PTA, the church leaders were all for it. There was no organized opposition. The people of Parma seemed to agree that the city needed the bond money for another junior high school and three elementary schools, and the levy for new books and more teachers.

So the people of Parma went to the polls on May 3, 1960, and turned down the school bonds by a vote of 9,990 to 9,706. They turned down the levy by a vote of 10,753 to 9,032.

Last fall the Parma voters were asked once more to approve the same bond issue and tax levy. The situation was much the same—no organized opposition, considerable organized support.

So the people of Parma went to the polls again on Nov. 8, 1960, and this time they approved the bonds 30,566 to 15,337 (66.7 per cent), and they approved the levy 29,745 to 15,886 (65.18 per cent). Only 44 per cent of the registered voters went to the polls last May, but the turnout reached nearly 90 per cent in November. In May it was the primary election, in November it was the national presidential election.

"I never vote in the primaries," one voter said. "You have to say whether you're a Republican or a Democrat, and I don't think it's anybody's business."

A housewife said she had voted against the bonds in May, but voted for them in November.

"I thought they were just fooling us when they said the school programs would have to be cut back without the levy," she said, "but they weren't.

Parma is about 65 per cent Catholic and has five Catholic elementary schools and one small girls' high school. Before both elections, every Catholic priest in Parma asked his parishioners to vote for the public school issues.

"Look," said the woman. "We've got four children in parochial school. That costs us money, believe you me. I can't support the Catholic schools and the public schools, too. They'll just have to get their money somewhere to get their money somewhere else."

The elderly man down the block had sent all his children to parochial schools, too.

"We voted for the school issues," he said. "We always do. The public schools have to be supported. Even so, I think there is going to have to be some sort of federal aid to education."

Before both elections, supporters of the school issues stressed the low cost to the voters. Not everyone believed them.

"I don't believe all this stuff about our schools being overcrowded," a man said. "I think they're just wasting the taxpayer's money."

"Wasting the taxpayer's money" would seem to be a charge hard to prove against Supt. Paul Briggs and the Parma School Board.

A school bond issue passed several years ago gave Briggs enough money for three elementary schools. He managed, by cutting corners, to build four new schools for the same money.

I found only a few complaints voiced about the school administration or the school board. Most people in Parma believe they are getting full value for their school tax dollar.

But, with everything apparently going for it, the $3-million school bond issue carried by only 66.57 per cent in the November election.

Honor Society Plans Wellsville Initiation

A proposal to make the initiation of new members the main portion of the annual Awards Assembly of Wellsville high school was discussed at the meeting of the National Honor Society Tuesday.

The amended constitution was read and approved and following a report of profits from sale of potato chips at noon at the school, the group decided to continue the project. Rosemary Pasquale, secretary, read her report and a tentative treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Nova Runyon in the absence of Bill Brown.

Boat Class Told Of River Charts

River charts and the use of a mariner's compass were discussed at the sixth lesson of a public safe boating course held Wednesday night at the Foremen's Club on Harvey Ave. by Flotilla 7 of the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

Bob Corbin of Flotilla 0702 of Pittsburgh was instructor. Herman Miller, vice commander, presided. Corbin explained the history and overall use of the compass. Two types, the magnetic compass and gyro-compass, are used on boats.

He also explained the use of river charts which show all locks and dams, shallow water, danger areas and the safe navigation channel.

The seventh lesson next Wednesday night will deal with safe boat handling and safety procedures while aboard a boat.

Vice Capt. Paul Shively of Pittsburgh was a guest.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 66, my wife is 64. We have seven grandchildren and have always had a happy home life. I never thought I'd be running into this kind of trouble at my age.

Two years ago my wife started to correspond with an old boy friend she hadn't seen in 35 years. Her sister ran into him in Seattle and this is how it started. They've been exchanging pictures of their grandchildren, summer homes, writing about mutual friends, hobbies and so on.

Lasf winter the man lost his wife. There was much writing back and forth, my wife sent him books on how to handle grief and he was most grateful. Yesterday she said she'd like to invite him to visit. He would stay in a hotel, of course, but we would introduce him to our friends and spend a lot of time with him.

What's your advice? — ST. PETE.

Dear Pete: By all means encourage it. If your wife is nurturing memories of how this bird looked 35 years ago you can be sure she's in for a jolt.

They'll probably spend the first couple of hours talking about what happened to Fatso and Freckles and then they'll compare pictures of grandchildren. After that they'll probably crack open a bottle of lumbago liniment and decide that an awful lot of water has gone over the dam.

Greedy Husband

Dear Ann: The letter from the mother who complained because her husband helped himself to the choice cuts of meat and took more than his share of everything struck a sensitive chord. This is how I helped my daughter handle the problem:

My son-in-law is a spoiled, selfish person. He always made a small salary but my daughter never complained when he bought imported German beer for himself and fancy blends of Turkish pipe tobacco.

I help as quietly as possible by bringing over roasts, steaks, chops and chickens and just putting them in her freezer. She says, "Mother you shouldn't, but thanks so much. . . ."

One evening I had dinner at their home and I saw him take four of the largest chops off the platter and pass the four small chops on to his wife. There were three children to be served, plus my daughter and me. He also took half the lima beans.

I later suggested to my daughter that she serve up the plates at the stove. She has done this ever since and he is none the wiser.—B.L.D.

-:-

Dear B. L. D.: Many thanks for the suggestion. It is incredible that a father could be so piggish. Your solution was excellent.

Problem Child

Dear Ann: I need some advice on what to do about our 5-year-old son. He is so terribly destructive I don't know how to handle him.

He has punched holes in the plaster walls, torn up pieces of inlaid linoleum, broken three windows and demolished the TV set and radio. I am unable to take him into the homes of friends or relatives because he breaks everything he gets his hands on. I can't take my eyes off him for a minute.

I've tried scolding, punishing and even hard spanking. Nothing works. What can I do?—WORN OUT.

-:-

Dear Worn Out: This child should be taken to a specialist who deals with disturbed children. Your family doctor will direct you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

50 Farmers Establish Projects For Wildlife

LISBON — Fifty co-operators with the Columbiana Soil Conservation District included wildlife improvements in their farm conservation plans last year, according to Herman L. Reuter, local work unit conservationist with the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

Timing his announcement with National Wildlife Week, Reuter said wildlife practices installed by district co-operators included 30 fish pond treatments, 2,447 rods of hedgerow plantings, 408 acres of wildlife area and 24 acres of pond area planting.

Reuter said many soil conservation practices benefit wildlife. As examples, he mentioned woodland protection, pasture renovations, contour or strip cropping, cover crop seeding, pound construction and conservation crop rotations.

State Expected To Rest Case In Ladutko's Trial

CLEVELAND (AP) — The state expected to rest its case today against John Max Ladutko Jr., on trial for first-degree murder in the shotgun slayings of his wife, Nancy, and a prominent attorney.

Ladutko has admitted the slayings but contends he was enraged by seeing his wife, 29, and Charles D. Johnson, 42, in an embrace.

The prosecution says the killing was planned.

In the third day of testimony Wednesday the state called Mrs. Ladutko's mother and John's widow on the stand in seeking to counter defense claims that Ladutko, 32, loved Nancy.

Mrs. Johnson said her marriage had been a "happy one." She testified her husband had telephoned her the afternoon of the day of the shootings and said he would be home for dinner. She said her husband had spoken of Nancy Ladutko and discussed the marital difficulties she was having.

Mrs. Ladutko, also a lawyer, was librarian at the law firm of which Johnson was a member.

Mrs. Joseph Shepler, mother of the slain woman, said Nancy's appetite improved and she started laughing again in the two weeks her daughter lived with her after leaving Ladutko. She said that because of an incident (the nature of which was not disclosed because of a defense objection) Ladutko had not come to her home since May 1957. She said she didn't see him again until last Dec. 29.

Crucible Sells Towing Fleet

The Crucible Steel Co. has sold its river fleet, consisting of a tow boat, the M. V. Crucible, 55 barges, a dredge boat and miscellaneous barge repair facilities, to the Island Creek Fuel & Transportation Co.

Crucible, which recently sold its coal mine in Crucible, Pa., announced Wednesday that it sold its river transportation facilities because its 1,000-hp motor vessel could not practicably fill Crucible's needs in bringing coal up the Ohio River from the Huntington area to the Midland works.

The Midland works is Crucible's largest steelmaking plant.

The M. V. Crucible was designed for Monongahela River traffic and not for the Ohio River, C. B. Tillson Jr., Crucible's manager of raw materials, said. The M. V. Crucible was bought in 1951 from the Dravo Corp.

To Open Shipping

CLEVELAND (AP) — The freighter Valley Camp is expected to be the first to enter the Port of Cleveland with a cargo in the new Great Lakes shipping season. The Valley Camp, owned by the Valley Camp Coal Co. of Toronto, is expected here April 3 from Port Colborne with some 6,000 tons of crushed stone for Ontario Stone Corp. on Whiskey Island.

President Looks For A TV Format

Now that live telecasts of the presidential press conference have proved to be even more ephemeral than most TV programming, President Kennedy, like many a performer, is looking for a television format.

Marie Torre

Just as the late Franklin D. Roosevelt had "Fireside Chats" and former President Eisenhower had "State of the Union" messages, President Kennedy reportedly is seeking a broadcasting vehicle to come before the public periodically with issues he feels they ought to know about.

It's not an urgent quest. As a White House source put it, "It's not in the immediate future. But four months from now, we well may hear the first of these addresses."

-:-

THE PRESENTATION of these "talks" is currently under discussion at the White House, where the feeling is that the press conference does not give the President the freedom to choose his topics, since he does not direct the questioning. And "planting" questions would be unthinkable.

While the discontinuance of the "live" telecasts is a disappointment to all who hailed them as a new era in communication between the White House and the people, the prospect of hearth-to-hearth presidential talks indubitably will receive the cooperation of all the TV-radio networks.

Network officials do, however, anticipate "equal time" demands by the Republicans if President Kennedy uses these talks to sell certain items in his legislative program before Congress or on global foreign policy issues where there is domestic controversy involved.

As Richard Salant, president of CBS News, remarked:

"This is something we face with every administration. I have a file THIS thick on correspondence with Democrats, who demanded "equal time" after almost every State of the Union address."

-:-

NOW THAT the Jack Paar-Ed Sullivan altercation has subsided, it's interesting to note the effect it's had on at least one performer —Sam Levenson, one of the many unwitting victims of the controversy anent TV guest fees.

Levenson, long respected for his many efforts in behalf of educational and charitable causes as well as his comedy talent, has been the recipient of much adverse mail since Paar repeated on a recent program an incident he said he read in the newspapers.

"Levenson, who gets $7,500 for each Sullivan appearance," Paar told the audience, "called Sullivan when the story broke and said, 'Gee, Ed, I'm sorry I went on the Paar show, I'll never do it again.'"

The account did much to tarnish Levenson's "image," even though it was about as accurate as some of the many reasons given for the cancellation of the Paar-Sullivan debate.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, the Levenson call was made in response to a previous call by Sullivan. In the second place, Levenson did not beseech forgiveness. The truth of the matter is that Levenson, forced to choose sides and motivated by loyalty, went along with Sullivan because it was he who first put the comedian on television 11 years ago and has employed him ever since.

Ironically, Levenson's original purpose in going on the Paar show was to promote a charitable cause—the Fall River Scholarships, which he founded three years ago. Now in its third year, the fund will make it possible for 200 "needy and deserving" students to go to college this year.

Levenson deserves better than letters accusing him of siding with Sullivan because of a mercenary streak.

NBC WILL EXAMINE the first 82 days of President Kennedy's administration on "JFK—Report No. 2" on April 11. . . .

Without the benefit of a regular TV show, a major motion picture or even a best-selling recording, Liberace's earnings in 1960 amounted to $1 million. Sixty per cent of his income came from night club and concert appearances, the other 40 per cent from real estate, oil holdings and his music publishing business. . . .

Audie Murphy, once a cinema name, comes to television next season as star of "Whispering Smith," a half-hour police mystery series set in Denver during the 1870s. The NBC series also will star singer Guy Mitchell, but not as a singer. Going the way of most other vocalists, Mitchell will appear in a straight dramatic role as a detective and leave the "singing" to criminals.

President Looks For A TV Format

Now that live telecasts of the presidential press conference have proved to be even more ephemeral than most TV programming, President Kennedy, like many a performer, is looking for a television format.

Marie Torre

Just as the late Franklin D. Roosevelt had "Fireside Chats" and former President Eisenhower had "State of the Union" messages, President Kennedy reportedly is seeking a broadcasting vehicle to come before the public periodically with issues he feels they ought to know about.

It's not an urgent quest. As a White House source put it, "It's not in the immediate future. But four months from now, we well may hear the first of these addresses."

-:-

THE PRESENTATION of these "talks" is currently under discussion at the White House, where the feeling is that the press conference does not give the President the freedom to choose his topics, since he does not direct the questioning. And "planting" questions would be unthinkable.

While the discontinuance of the "live" telecasts is a disappointment to all who hailed them as a new era in communication between the White House and the people, the prospect of hearth-to-hearth presidential talks indubitably will receive the cooperation of all the TV-radio networks.

Network officials do, however, anticipate "equal time" demands by the Republicans if President Kennedy uses these talks to sell certain items in his legislative program before Congress or on global foreign policy issues where there is domestic controversy involved.

As Richard Salant, president of CBS News, remarked:

"This is something we face with every administration. I have a file THIS thick on correspondence with Democrats, who demanded "equal time" after almost every State of the Union address."

-:-

NOW THAT the Jack Paar-Ed Sullivan altercation has subsided, it's interesting to note the effect it's had on at least one performer —Sam Levenson, one of the many unwitting victims of the controversy anent TV guest fees.

Levenson, long respected for his many efforts in behalf of educational and charitable causes as well as his comedy talent, has been the recipient of much adverse mail since Paar repeated on a recent program an incident he said he read in the newspapers.

"Levenson, who gets $7,500 for each Sullivan appearance," Paar told the audience, "called Sullivan when the story broke and said, 'Gee, Ed, I'm sorry I went on the Paar show, I'll never do it again.'"

The account did much to tarnish Levenson's "image," even though it was about as accurate as some of the many reasons given for the cancellation of the Paar-Sullivan debate.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, the Levenson call was made in response to a previous call by Sullivan. In the second place, Levenson did not beseech forgiveness. The truth of the matter is that Levenson, forced to choose sides and motivated by loyalty, went along with Sullivan because it was he who first put the comedian on television 11 years ago and has employed him ever since.

Ironically, Levenson's original purpose in going on the Paar show was to promote a charitable cause—the Fall River Scholarships, which he founded three years ago. Now in its third year, the fund will make it possible for 200 "needy and deserving" students to go to college this year.

Levenson deserves better than letters accusing him of siding with Sullivan because of a mercenary streak.

NBC WILL EXAMINE the first 82 days of President Kennedy's administration on "JFK—Report No. 2" on April 11. . . .

Without the benefit of a regular TV show, a major motion picture or even a best-selling recording, Liberace's earnings in 1960 amounted to $1 million. Sixty per cent of his income came from night club and concert appearances, the other 40 per cent from real estate, oil holdings and his music publishing business. . . .

Audie Murphy, once a cinema name, comes to television next season as star of "Whispering Smith," a half-hour police mystery series set in Denver during the 1870s. The NBC series also will star singer Guy Mitchell, but not as a singer. Going the way of most other vocalists, Mitchell will appear in a straight dramatic role as a detective and leave the "singing" to criminals.

Exercise Puts Tone In Lazy Muscles

To improve your looks as you slim down...take shape-ups. While exercise isn't exactly reducing in spots, it is beautifully slimming. When pounds pile on, they settle on the muscle-lazy areas . . . the spots where they find an undisturbed parking place.

By Ida Jean Kain

You might reasonably figure that the least nature could do would be to use the calories off the fat pads where they were originally bunched! Alas, it doesn't work out that way.

Calorie burning is an all-over proposition. Nature uses calories generally, not in certain spots. It's easy to figure. When calories are cut below the number needed to cover your daily activities, nature draws on stored fat to make up the fuel deficit. That's the way fat is converted into energy.

Give nature a nudge in the right direction. With precision calisthenics you can stimulate circulation in the muscle-lazy, fat-padded areas. Secondly, you restore tone to flabby muscles. Calisthenics help to tone and tighten the muscles. Tone is synonymous with elasticity.

PUT THE LINE of pull, the swing, or the twist, smack through the bulge. Add resistance and the exercise is doubly streamlining.

Stretching involves the principle of resistance...it's a tug-of-muscle for in stretching the muscles work against each other. Try this resistance exercise...it really works the muscles.

Position: Stand in doorway, one foot braced against door jamb, feet close together. Have one hand stretched up on the door frame overhead, and the other hand clasping door frame about chest level.

Movement: Pull up-and-in with lower abdominal muscles and tuck the hips under so these muscles will be brought into the action. Now, slowly pull away from the door-frame. Keep bending until you feel a strong pull on the waist.

In fact, you should feel the pull all along the side boundary-lines. Tug of muscle is added when you resist with the muscles of the arm holding the door frame as you pull away from the door. Do three times, change sides and repeat.

And don't forget your daily 20-minute walk.
